Problem for the State Board of Equalization.

ARGUMENTS AT THE HEARING

STREET RAILWAYS PLEAD FOR LOW ASSESSMENT.

Other St. Louis Representatives Urge an Increase, So That Franchise Corporations Shall Bear Their Proper Burden of Taxes.

From a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 12.—The State Board of Equalization has concluded the hearings of the various interests in St. Louis, Kansas City and the state at large and is now wrestling with the difficult question of a just assessment.

On Tuesday Mr. F. W. Lehman, representing the St. Louis Transit Co., appeared before the board and made a plea which seemed to be a protest against any raising of the assessment over that of last year. He was followed by General Manager Jenkins of the St. Louis & Suburban along the same lines.

Later in the day Mr. S. L. Moser, representative of the St. Louis School Patrons' Alliance, People's Fund and Welfare Association and the St. Louis Single Tax League addressed the board in opposition to any reduction and advocating an increase, especially in the assessment of the St. Louis street railways and the terminal property.

The discussion was entirely one of values. No reference was made to the franchise tax law as open to question. A basis of assessment which shall equalize and justly distribute the burden was the bone of contention.

In St. Louis that basis is 66 per cent of actual values, excluding the street railway and other franchised corporations. In Kansas City it is 40 per cent and over the rest of the state ranges about 33 1-3 to 35. On a basis of market values the street railroads of St. Louis pay on a proportion of about 35 per cent.

Mr. Lehman, anticipating the argument that the values for taxation should be market value, declared that the only fair way to arrive at the truth was from income. Market quotations had nothing to do with it. He confessed himself utterly unable to understand why a stock which pays no dividends can have a value for taxation, and he was almost equally puzzled to know why it should have any value for sale.

With this logic he sought to convince the board that the St. Louis transit property was not good for much, especially for purposes of taxation.

Strong Plea for Franchise Taxation.

Mr. Moser, for the School Patrons' Alliance, made an earnest plea for an equalization which should compel the franchised companies to bear a share proportionately as great as that borne by real estate and mercantile property in St. Louis. The total assessment of property in St. Louis other than street railroads and terminal is now $360,000,000, indicating, on a basis of 66 2-3 per cent, a valuation of $550,000,000. The market value of the Transit securities, according to the representative of the School Patrons' Alliance, is $50,624,030. The assessment last year was $16,000,000, or about 32 per cent, less than half the proportion employed in the assessment of other property. The Terminal properties are worth $21,000,000 and are assessed at $3,000,000, about 14½ per cent, less than one-fourth the proportion of other property.

It was pointed out to the board that the alternation of an increased assessment was an additional tax levy for school purposes, which had already been proposed.

"Raise the assessment on street railroad property to an equality with other property," it was argued, "and you not only obviate the necessity of the school tax, but reduce the amount necessary to raise on a bonded debt for purposes of municipal improvement."

Mr. Lehman contended with great earnestness that street railroad property in St. Louis paid from three to five times as much tax in proportion as was paid by the mercantile and manufacturing interests. It was replied to this that evasion and dodging were not in question.

No Conclusion Has Been Reached.

No conclusion has been reached. The board will take time to reduce the various arguments to plain print and collect statistics before taking definite action.

Last April a series of interrogatories, 33 in number, were sent to the companies operating lines of steam, electric or cable railroads, wholly or partly within the state. The replies to these questions are now being tabulated and arranged preliminary to a critical examination.

Among these interrogatories are questions relating to capital stock, cost of construction, approximate cost of reproduction, market value of stocks, dividends paid, bonded indebtedness, earnings and actual cash values with methods and facts considered in determining these values.

Question Is Now to the Board.

All the members of the board except Attorney-General Crow are meeting the question of assessments in Missouri for the first time. Secretary of State Cook thinks the board has received considerable valuable information through the hearings from time to time. But he observed that while the interests directly affected were much in evidence, the citizens were left without a voice, except on one or two occasions. When the Kansas City assessment came up for consideration the mayor of that city, accompanied by a number of representatives of citizens' associations, presented the case from the standpoint of the public interest. From St. Louis no one has spoken from that standpoint save Mr. Moser.

What the action of the board will be cannot be indicated at present. The questions put to Messrs. Lehman and Jenkins showed considerable interest in getting the real facts, but did not afford any clew to the line of policy likely to be pursued.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED.

He Wore Stolen Coat When Terminal Train Struck Him.

At 9 o'clock Tuesday night, the mangled body of a man was found in the Terminal yards at Twenty-first and Poplar streets.

He had been killed by a train that had passed a few minutes before.

The body was sent to the Morgue, and the papers that were found in the pocket of the coat indicated that it belonged to Allen G. Lighter, a carpenter who is employed by the Buck Stove and Range Co.

At 11 o'clock Tuesday night Lighter called at the morgue and identified his property, saying it had been stolen from him during the afternoon.

The dead man was about 28 years old, nearly six feet tall and was roughly dressed. He was smooth shaven. The remains were viewed by members of the detective department, but none of them could identify him.

MERRY TIME FOR MARSHAL BOHLE

Prisoner Escaped From Him at Union Station.

LEFT HIM ALONE IN A CAR

BAGGAGEMEN PURSUED AND CAPTURED THE ROBBER.

James Blackburn, a United States Prisoner, Took Refuge in an Express Office, While Bohle Still Pursued Him.

Marshal Bohle,
Walked slowly
With a wight adjudged unholy,
Had no idy
Ere his ride he
Would be chasing his man Friday.

James Blackburn, under six years' sentence for postoffice robbery, escaped from United States Marshal Louis C. Bohle at Union Station early Wednesday morning, but was captured by expressmen and baggagemen only after a hot chase among the cars in the train sheds and the yards.

Blackburn was on his way to Jefferson City in charge of Marshal Bohle to begin his sentence there in the penitentiary.

He was one of four men who robbed the postoffice at Salem, Dent Count, Mo., last spring. All four were found guilty and sentenced in the Federal Court May 10. The other three, D. B. Kelly, James Wallace and Nicholas F. Gardner, were taken to the penitentiary June 2.

Blackburn was ill at the time and failed to pass the medical examination.

He was the only prisoner in charge of Marshal Bohle Wednesday morning and was securely handcuffed.

The marshal arrived at Union Station just in time to catch Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 5, which leaves at 7:25 a. m.

He took Blackburn into the rear car by the rear entrance. There was nobody in the car. Blackburn took a seat near the middle of the car, and Marshal Bohle, supposing that the door at the fore end was locked, got off the car at the rear end and stood there talking to a friend.

As soon as Blackburn saw that he was alone in the car he walked to the front and tried the door.

It opened. He stepped outside and walked down to the pavement on the opposite side of the car from Marshal Bohle.

He still had on the handcuffs which would prove him an escaped prisoner to anyone who might see him.

Once off the car he started on a run to get around the head of the train and off among the cars in other parts of the shed or in the yards.

A group of gaggagemen and expressmen standing near the station baggage room saw him and, giving a yell, started in pursuit.

The yell was the first intimation Marshal Bohle received that anything was wrong. Blackburn had been away three minutes then, and had a good lead on his pursuers.

Bohle ran inside the car when he heard the yell. Seeing that his prisoner was gone and the door at the front of the car open, he rushed through it and out into the trainshed, just in time to see the group of baggagemen and expressmen disappearing in the chase.

He drew his revolver and fired several shots into the air to frighten the escaped prisoner, but Blackburn kept on running as fast as he could with his hands handcuffed in front of him.

The pursuers gained on him slowly. After chasing him up and down between the cars in the sheds and yards, they finally caught up with him and forced him to take refuge in the office of the Adams Express Co.

Even when thus cornered, Blackburn was game, and the crowd subdued him only after a struggle in which he was considerably bruised.

He was then led back to Marshal Bohle, who was met still running after the pursuers.

The marshal took the prisoner in charge and returned to the train, which pulled out immediately.

THE COUSIN OF CHARLEY ROSS

Queer Attempt at Kidnaping by a Disappointed Suitor Who Is Now Raving Mad.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12.—An attempt has been made to kidnap a cousin of Charley Ross. Gideon Smithson has been arrested charged with the crime.

Eleven-year-old Paul Wolf and Eddie Ross, two years his senior, were taken by Smithson to Egg Harbor City, where the latter was arrested.

Smithson, it is said, had been a suitor for the hand of William Ross' daughter. She married another, and Smithson, it is charged, then enticed her brother Eddie away from home.

Foiled in his plan, he is now raving in a cell here so violently that the police fear he may attempt suicide.

THEIR CONFIDENCE MISPLACED

Minnesota Farmers Find the Banker They Trusted Is Hopelessly Insolvent With $125,000 Liabilities.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 12.—Hans Groner, who has for 40 years been a respected citizen of Renville County, and who was supposed to be worth $250,000, has failed, with reported liabilities amounting to $125,000 and no assets.

For many years he has been the owner of the bank of Beaver Falls and a heavy stockholder in the Morton Bank and other banks and trust companies. He has been engaged in loaning trust funds for Wisconsin and Eastern parties, as well as hundreds of people of this county who have intrusted their earnings to him.

To the astonishment of every one who knew him, it has now been learned that he is in a hopeless state of insolvency. The farmers will be the chief losers.

GOVERNMENT NOT INVOLVED.

Machinists Permitted to Work on the Army Transports.

TACOMA, Wash., June 12.—All government work on ships, acording to arrangements made by the local union and a Bremerton union, may be done at the Bremerton dry dock without interference of any union on Pugent Sound.

The committee of machinists and boiler makers who went to Port Orchard have returned and afterwards a meeting was held and the order to quit work was rescinded. An officer of the local union says:

"The Tacoma, as well as other unions on Puget Sound, was aware that the movement to take the government vessels to the dry docks was intended to involve the Puget Sound machinists' unions with the government. Therefore we were prepared to meet this movement, and have authorized all strictly government work to be done there. This decision will permit the Rosecrans and the Bear to go to the dry dock to complete repairs and local men will be given work there."

TRANSIT CO. IN A PREDICAMENT

Tracks are Laid But Trolley Poles Refused.

NEW EXTENSION IMPERATIVE

CITY COUNSELOR SAYS TROLLEY MUST GO UNDERGROUND.

Application to B. P. I. for Trolley Poles Turned Down and Company's Attorneys Now Investigating Its Rights.

The St. Louis Transit Co. has not decided whether it will lay an underground trolley for its new extension from Twelfth on Pine to Twenty-first to Spruce street.

Second Vice-President Dupont told the Post-Dispatch Wednesday that the company had referred the case to its attorneys for an opinion as to whether it has a right under its franchise to operate the extension with an overhead trolley.

He said a decision will not be made until this opinion shall have been received.

City Counselor Schnurmacher, at the request of the Board of Public Improvements, has rendered an opinion in which he holds that, under the company's franchise, it must operate with an underground trolley.

When permission to build the extension was granted a condition was inserted that the trolley must be laid underground. The company made no provision for such a trolley in constructing the line which is now about completed and ready for the operation of cars.

A few weeks ago it applied to the Board of Public Improvements for permission to erect poles along the route for an overhead trolley. President Phillips referred the application to Mr. Schnurmacher, with a request that he render an opinion about the validity of the condition in the franchise.

Upon receipt of the opinion the Board of Public Improvements sent it to the city lighting supervisor with instructions that he see that no trolley shall be erected along the route until the board shall have acted on the application for the permit.

A member of the board stated Wednesday that the permit will be refused when the application is called for a hearing, the members being unanimously in favor of such action.

Would Have to Tear Up Tracks.

If the company shall be compelled to build the underground trolley in operating its cars, it must partially tear up the tracks, the laying of which it has just finished.

Double tracks have been built along the entire route, and cars cannot be operated over them without a conduit under each track.

"The company has known all the time," said a member of the Board of Public Improvements, "that it must comply with the underground trolley order, and that the board will not permit it to operate with an overhead trolley.

"It has purposely failed to make provision for an underground trolley because it doesn't care whether it operates the line or not. The line, it is generally understood, was built to keep the Suburban company from building an extension into Union Station. The mere laying of the tracks will do that for awhile, and the opposition of the board to an overhead trolley can be used as an excuse for not operating the line."

The underground trolley condition was inserted in the permit for the extension to introduce the system in St. Louis.

The power for an underground trolley is supplied along two steel rails fitted under the center of the track and between which the trolley bar, passing through a slot, like a cable bar, operates.

The changing of the Broadway cable line in New York to this system was accomplished in 23½ hours. At 9 o'clock on the evening of May 25 the last cable car was sent out and, as it finished its run and started on the return, the task of winding up the 10 miles of steel cable on a spool was begun. The car hung to the end to keep the cable taut during the winding. At 7:30 o'clock the next evening the first electric car was sent out.

The work of putting the power rails in place and building the conduits required three years, but during all that time the cable traffic carried on over the rails now used for the electric line was not hampered.

DISCIPLINED BY DOWIE

Two of His Elders Failed to Vote Him Elijah II and Were Summarily Expelled.

CHICAGO, June 12.—John Alexander Dowie has expelled two of his elders, and three others are on probation. The five refused to recognize the Zion leader as Elijah II.

According to the latest issue of "Leaves of Healing," John Alexander Dowie's publication, he was not sure he was Elijah II when he announced it from the platform in the Auditorium eight days ago. So he called a meeting of the elders, overseers, deaconesses and deacons one week ago. His story of the conference says 254 were present, and that he talked to them four and one-half hours. Then he took a ballot to see whether he was Elijah II or not, and found out he was by a vote of 249 to 5. These five refused to make the vote unanimous, and two of them, Elders Inouye and Kitano, whom Dowie had fixed upon as the heads of his sect in Japan, their native country, were expelled. The others are on probation.

Dowie emphasizes that now that he has been elected Elijah II by his followers he no longer speaks by permission of God, but by full authority of a completed divine commission. He says he will live until Jesus Christ returns to earth to restore all things.

STRUCK ON HIS HEAD

ALEXANDER PIEL FELL BACKWARDS FROM A LADDER.

UNCONSCIOUS WHEN FOUND.

Accident Happened at the Residence of Louis Opel, 4160 Lindell Boulevard, Where He Was Employed.

Alexander Piel's head struck nearly every rung of a ladder down which he fell backwards for 20 feet at the residence of Louis Opel, 4160 Lindell boulevard Monday afternoon.

The back of his head, the neck and shoulders bear the imprint of the welts raised by the series of quick encounters with the ladder.

Assistant Superintendent Rassieur of the City Hospital, where Piel was taken after the accident, says that three years ago Piel was brought to the hospital after having fallen from the second story of the Century building, down a ladder, in the same manner and with the same results.

Piel was engaged in hanging awnings from the upper part of the casements of the high first story windows of the Opel residence when his feet became entangled in the cordage attached to the awnings. In trying to free himself one foot slipped from the ladder rung on which he was standing and his legs lurched through the opening.

His shoulders hit the lower rungs, and he began his rough descent to the bottom. It was a series of bumps as his body slid down the incline swiftly to the granitoid sidewalk around the house.

Piel says that he has no recollection of how he came down the ladder head first, because he lost consciousness as his head struck the ladder for the first time.

Where the back of the skull came into contact with the walk there is a large scalp wound, but otherwise the awning hanger is not injured. A New Testament was taken from one of his pockets when he arrived at the hospital in an ambulance. Piel boards at Fourth street and Clark avenue.

VICTIM BECAME PROSECUTOR

Charles Bratz Quickly Turned the Tables on the Man Who Had Accused Him.

For 15 minutes Wednesday morning Charles Bratz a grocer at 1240 North High street, was in danger of being placed in jail on a charge of assault to kill.

Then there was a change and Bratz stood exonerated without any trial, and he was made the prosecuting witness in a highway robbery case.

Wednesday morning Christian F. Keller, who lives at the same address at Bratz, called at the warrant office with several witnesses and applied for a warrant against Bratz. Keller said that Bratz, without provocation, dashed upstairs into Keller's home and fired five shots at him. He was corroborated by his daughter, Teresa, and other witnesses. The warrant was issued.

Fifteen minutes later Bratz, accompanied by a policeman, entered the warrant office. Bratz was unaware that there was a warrant against him, and he related how, on Tuesday afternoon, George Krueger of 1322 North High street entered his store and snatched his watch, breaking the chain. Bratz volunteered the information that he had fired his revolver in the air to attract the attention of the police. This was corroborated by Policeman Mahoney, who said he had recovered the watch.

The similarity of names attracted the attention of the warrant officers, and Mr. Johnson investigated. It was alleged by Bratz and the police that when Krueger snatched the watch he threw it to the daughter of Christian Keller, from whom it was recovered.

After hearing Bratz's story Mr. Johnson withdrew the warrant against him and issued one against Krueger, charging highway robbery.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

FAIR.

For St. Louis and vicinity—Generally fair and continued warm Wednesday night and probably Thursday, except possibly local thunder storms Thursday.

Missouri—Generally fair, except possibly local thunder storms Thursday and in northwest portion Wednesday night; southerly winds.

COURT DENIES WRIT

CHARLES GREEN LOSES IN THE BURKE ESTATE CASE.

LOWER COURT SUSTAINED

The Question Was on the Enforcing of an Order of Distribution by the Probate Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 12.—Judge Valliant, in an opinion in Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court this morning, denied Charles Green, the executor of the will of Patrick J. Burke, a writ of prohibition against W. W. Henderson, judge, and C. W. Koenig, clerk, of the Probate Court of St. Louis.

This is an original proceeding to prevent the enforcement of an order of distribution against Green as the executor of Burke's will, on the ground that the Probate Court had no jurisdiction to make the order of distribution because there had been no judgment of that court in final settlement from which an appeal to the Circuit Court could be taken, and that Green was not duly notified of the application for the order of distribution. This court says that, as to the objection that the Probate Court had no jurisdiction in the case, seems to rest on a misunderstanding by Green's attorney as to what occurred in the Probate Court when the final settlement was presented. The court used the word "passed" in reference to the matter, and the counsel interpreted that to mean continued until the next term. This court says it sees no merit in that point and, indeed, does not now understand the counsel to seriously insist on it.

As to the objection that no notice was given Green, the court says that there is no statute prescribing a notice to be given to an executor or administrator in such cases. Concluding the court says: "We are of the opinion that the Probate Court has not exceeded its jurisdiction and the writ of prohibition is therefore denied." All judges concur.

Division No. 1 of the Missouri Supreme Court met this morning and handed down opinions as follows and adjourned to the 29th inst., which will probably be the last meeting of this division on the bench before the regular summer adjournment:

TO INVESTIGATE THE FENDER LAW

Transit Company Obligations Will Be Determined.

B. P. I. PRESIDENT AROUSED

HE WILL ACT AFTER CONSULTING CITY COUNSELOR.

President Phillips of the Board of Public Improvement intends to prepare a communication to the St. Louis Transit Co., notifying it of the company's obligation in regard to fenders, as soon as the exact nature of these obligations is learned through an opinion of the city counselor.

Mr. Phillips has asked the city counselor to inform him whether the fender regulations imposed by law on the Lindell Railway and other independent street railway companies apply to the same lines since their consolidation with the St. Louis Transit Co.

As soon as an opinion on this point has shown the city's position and the company's rights, Mr. Phillips says he intends to notify the company's officials that they must conform with the exact requirements of the law as interpreted by the city counselor.

"I am very anxious to take action as promptly as possible toward securing efficient fenders," said Mr. Phillips to the Post-Dispatch, "but it is necessary to know the exact legal status of the matter before any such step is taken. The city counselor is now preparing an opinion which will show us exactly where we stand. When this is received I shall inform the company's officials at once of their obligations in the matter, and of the steps which I shall be required to take if they do not comply with the law."

The fender ordinances attached to the franchises of the old independent street railway companies differed widely. The Lindell Railway Co. was required to equip its cars with fenders of a pattern to be approved by the Board of Public Improvements.

Former President McMath of the board, when requested to take steps to enforce the fender ordinance, expressed the opinion that the requirement could not be made binding on the companies, as no penalty for failure to comply with its terms was prescribed.

NEW ROAD PLANNED

FOREST PARK RAILWAY ASSOCIATION ASKS FOR FRANCHISE.

DELEGATE TROLL READS BILL

It Authorizes Company to Belt Forest Park, but Promoters of Line Are Unidentified.

New electric and steam railroad lines through Forest Park are proposed in a bill introduced into the House of Delegates Tuesday night by Charles Troll, elected on the Republican and Municipal Ownership tickets as the representative of the Eighth ward.

"The Forest Park Railway Association" is the name given in the bill by the promoters of the enterprise.

Who its backers are Mr. Troll would not state on the floor of the House or after the meeting.

By the terms of the bill a double track railroad, with either electricity or steam as a motive power, and to be used by freight as well as passenger cars, may be laid in all directions from the transit company's loop at Laclede avenue and King's highway.

One line runs due west to a proposed World's Fair site. This is to be intersected by a north and south line which follows the line of a prolongation of Union boulevard, across the park.

Connections with existing lines entering Forest Park are authorized, and the company is to have the right to charge 50 cents for every carload of freight hauled, and $1 a day for every car remaining on its tracks or in its yards longer than 24 hours.

The bill says nothing about rates of passenger fare. The rate of compensation to the city is fixed at 7½ per cent of the "net profits."

The work is to commence within six months from the date of the approval of the ordinance and to be completed "as expeditiously as possible."

Delegate Reiss objected to allowing the bill to proceed to a second reading without a statement from Mr. Troll of the names of the backers of the enterprise.

This the delegate from the Eighth refused to give, but said that he might reply to the question after adjournment. He then declared that the backers of the bill are "good men," and that the measure will have his vote.

The compensation of 7½ per cent, which the company proposes to pay to the city from its "net profits," is to commence three years after the approval of the franchise ordinance.

This would exempt the company from paying anything to the city during the World's Fair period.

Speaker Cronin, who was not present when the bill was read, although he was in the chair at the opening of Tuesday night's session, said Wednesday that he did not know who was behind Mr. Troll's bill, but had heard that former Councilman Charles Kratz and a syndicate of South St. Louis men were interested in it.

REMEMBERED "OLD MISSUS"

Former Slave Woman Who Had Grown Wealthy Left $12,000 to Her Former Owner.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, June 12.—Before the civil war, Louisa Grant of Donaldsonville, La., was the favorite slave of her mistress, the wife of a prominent Louisiana planter, for whom she had been named. After the war Louisa went to work for herself, taking in washing and saving money, but always speaking of Mrs. Grant as her "old Missus," and revering her above all others.

Louisa died on Sunday. She had accumulated considerable money and had invested it so wisely in real estate that competent appraisers figure the worth of houses and lots she own in Donaldsonville at $12,000. Her will was admitted to probate today. She leaves all her belongings, real and personal, to Mrs. Grant. Not a cent is left to her own people, and she had a large family.

STRIKE AGAINST A BOYCOTT.

FAREWELL TO CREEK NATION

Its Members to Become United States Citizens.

SPECTACLE AT MUSCOGEE

PARADE AND BARBECUE IN RATIFICATION OF THE TREATY.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., June 12.—This is the biggest day in the history of Muskogee and the Creek Nation.

In this city, the metropolis of the nation, the Indian citizens and the white residents are publicly ratifying the treaty between the Creek tribe and the United States, which was officially ratified by the great council of the Creeks at Okmulgee last April.

By the terms of this treaty the old Creek tribal government will cease, the lands will be allotted in severalty and the Indians will eventually become citizens of the United States.

Muskogee is crowded with visitors from all over the Indian Territory, red, white and black. There was an unique parade of the Indians and whites in the morning, ending at a grove a mile from town, where the grandest barbecue in the history of the territory was enjoyed by 10,000 Indians, whites and negroes.

Thirty beeves were barbecued. Three thousand pounds of bread were served with the roast beef.

In the afternoon there were speeches by ex-Congressman C. R. Breckenridge of Arkansas, Congressman Charles Curtis of Kansas, Judge Thomas of Muskogee, District Attorney Soper of Vinita, T. B. Needles of the Dawes Indian Commission and Gen. Pleasant Porter, principal chief of governors of the Creeks and other distinguished men.

Many interesting Indian characters are present. Whole families of fullbloods from far back in the hills made their first visit to the city. Some are gorgeously clad in all the colors of calico. No more picturesque gathering was ever seen in the territory. United States Marshal Leo E. Bennett has sworn in a force of special deputies to preserve order. There are flimflam and shell game men here from the states, who have been spottd for arrest if they seek to bunko the unsophisticated red man, now breaking into the full civilization.

YAGRO FELL 30 FEET

TUMBLED INTO BASEMENT AT BROADWAY AND OLIVE.

WORKMEN PULLED HIM OUT.

Michael Yagro, Working by Night for the Transit Company, Had a Painful Mishap at 4 a. m.

Michael Yagro fell 30 feet from the street into the basement of the new Bank of Commerce building at Olive street and Broadway at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

He was removed to the City Hospital, where an examination revealed internal injuries and severe contusions on the body.

Yagro lives at 2918 Papin street and is a mechanic who has been employed on the laying of track for the Transit company at the corner of Olive street and Broadway, where the work has been under way at night.

Electric bulbs strung from the trolley wires above the tracks furnish the illumination by which the workmen are enabled to carry on their employment. The sidewalks are in a shadow.

Yagro ventured into the shadow after having come out of the glow of the overhead illumination. The sudden transition from light to darkness, blinded him for the moment. He stepped unwittingly into a hole and was precipitated into the foundations of the new building on the southeast corner.

Foreman David Finnessy and other workmen heard the crash of the falling body and ran to the spot from which the noise came. They heard groans issuing from the basement and, securing a ladder, descended into the subterranean darkness, where they groped about with matches, directed partly by the exclamations of pain from Yagro.

After finding their comrade among a pile of iron and stone debris they rigged a sling of ropes, and with the assistance of men on the ladder, drew Yagro to the surface.

Foreman Finnessy says that Yagro had no business that called him toward the building and should not have left his work and gone into the darkness.

MRS. M'KINLEY IS IMPROVING

Physicians Expect Her to Spend Part of the Day in Her Rolling Chair.

"Mrs. McKinley's physicians report that she continues to show improvement and expects to spend part of the day in her rolling chair."

FLANNIGEN'S FISH POND

East Side Attorney Will Allow His Friends and Others to Fish There Free.

Alexander Flannigen, an East St. Louis attorney, has established a mammoth fish pond at Centerville Station, St. Clair County, Ill., for the free use of his friends and others who are unable to pay for the privilege elsewhere.

Flannigen's lake is one-fourth of a mile in length, has an average depth of 10 feet and covers 25 acres.

It is situated near the foothills of the "bluffs" on a large area of land, which Mr. Flannigen has owned for many years.

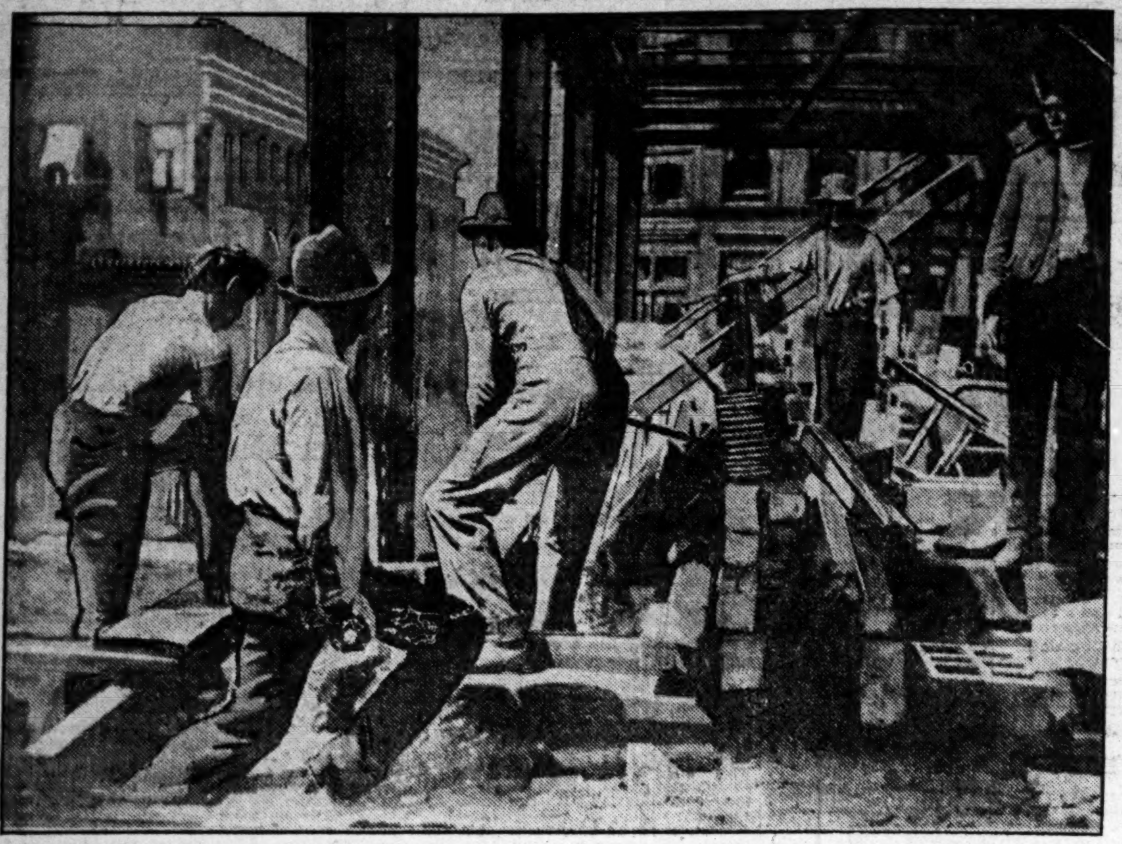
Last week a force of men tapped Pittsburg Lake, immediately to the north, for the purpose of irrigating the Flannigen farm. During a heavy storm and freshet which followed the lake overflowed and flooded Mr. Flannigen's land. The next morning his men picked up 841 fish—buffalo, carp, cat, croppie and bass.

The idea then entered Mr. Flannigen's head to build a fish pond of his own. He put 40 men to work enlarging a natural excavation at the foothills. He transferred the fish from a temporary pond to this artificial lake, after which more water was allowed to run in from Pittsburg Lake.

Mr. Flannigen has issued invitations to 500 persons to attend the resort Sunday, June 23, and thereafter it will be open and accessible every day in the week, and absolutely free of charge. It cost him [illegible], but he says he will get that much satisfaction from watching the people fish.

POST-DISPATCH CAMERA STORIES OF ST. LOUIS

THE NEW BANK OF COMMERCE BUILDING.



RIVET CREW PILING THE BEAMS ON BEARERS.

Photograph by the Post-Dispatch.

High Above the Street This Strange Game Goes on Day After Day.

A game of pitch and catch with redhot rivets, in which the pitcher handles the sphere with a pair of tongs and the catcher receives it in an iron bucket, is in constant progress these days on top of the new Bank of Commerce building at Broadway and Olive street.

High above the street, on the thin skeleton of steel which is climbing day by day, are men risking their lives at work and laugh at the thought of danger.

No process in the construction of a modern skyscraper is more interesting than that of the riveting together of the beams which constitute the framework of the building. The men who do this work must be not only skilled in their calling, but insensible to fear.

Each gang of riveters consists of four men. One tends the little portable forge, by means of which the iron rivets are heated. The others are armed with hammers for driving the rivets through the holes left for them in the beams and securing them.

The man who tends the forge is stationed on a temporary platform in the center of a wing of the building where his gang is at work. The others are, perhaps, hanging to a swinging platform of boards, tied to the beams which they are about to rivet.

The bolts are two inches long and half an inch in diameter. As soon as they are heated the man at the bellows, who is the pitcher in this strange game of mid-air baseball, knocks once or twice on the side of the forge. The rest of the gang, if they are ready, announce the fact, and one of them, answering to the catcher, grasps an iron bucket, which looks like an empty powder can, and stands ready to receive the "ball."

The pitcher grasps a redhot bolt firmly with a pair of light tongs, gives his arm a good swing and sends it flying through the air, 20, 30 or even 40 feet, toward the man with the bucket.

The latter deftly catches the redhot missile, an assistant picks it up with a pair of tongs, and, in a few seconds, it is hammered into place by the three in unison.

A "wild pitch" by the man at the forge, a muff or error by the catcher, a momentary loss of balance or attack of light-headedness on the part of either player would involve serious if not fatal consequences in this game. Disfigurement, if the hot iron should but glancingly touch any member of the gang; death, if it should catch in his clothing or cause him to tumble to the street, eight or ten stories below, would be the penalty for a misplay.

There are three gangs of riveters at work on the Bank of Commerce building. Their work is on the upper floors of the building. They are men especially trained for this kind of work. They do nothing else. Some of the catchers are so expert that they can handle the iron bucket with one hand.

The pitchers must also be experienced men, and must be able to throw without causing the bolt to turn over and over in the air. Sometimes the forge is on one floor, while the riveting is being done on the floor above, but the bolts are still passed as before.

As the work of riveting precedes everything else on the building, it is evident that much time is saved by the system described, even at the risk of danger to the men. Riveters receive one-third more pay than the other workmen. Most of them are young men. Statistics show that fewer of the old, experienced men are killed in the erection of new buildings than of the green helpers they employ from time to time.

Occasionally, however, an old-timer becomes careless, makes a misstep, falls and the mortuary record tells the rest.

Toledo Citizen With a Supersensative Conscience Remits a Penny to Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The "Conscience fund" at the treasury department was enriched today by the addition of 1 cent contributed by a citizen of Toledo, O.

YOUNG WOMAN OFFERS $600,000
BESIDES REAL ESTATE
AND HER HEART TO A. L. CABANNE

Arthur Lee Cabanne of 4334 Westminster place, a popular young society man and college athlete, and soldier, who abandoned the luxurious environment of his wealthy father's home, to enter the employ of the Shickle, Harris & Howard Iron Co. at East St. Louis as third molder's helper in order to learn the secrets of the manufacture of steel, has attained much prominence in consequence of his voluntary change of station.

Mr. Cabanne informed the Post-Dispatch Monday that he had received 60 letters, some of which were proposals of marriage and others of a congratulatory character. One young woman of Toronto, Canada, informed him that she had $600,000 in her own name and was ready to share her fortune and happiness with him. She claimed to have a villa in Los Angeles, Cal., and other realty, besides bonds and cash aggregating $600,000.

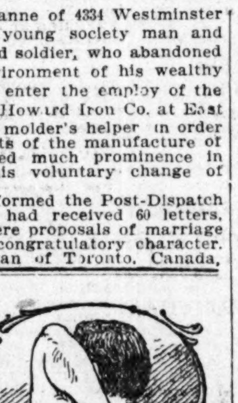
Society women of New York, Chicago, Baltimore and other places have also written to him. Many of the names are familiar to the social world by reason of frequent publication in the metropolitan press.

Mr. Cabanne says he is not a fortune-hunter and is not in the matrimonial market. He says that he had not answered any of the letters.

A college woman of New York wrote him an eight page letter in which she expressed gratification at finding a man who was not ashamed to perform manual work even though he was wealthy.

Mr. Cabanne has now been with the Shickle, Harrison & Howard Iron Co. fourteen days, engaged in wheeling pig iron and silica and shoveling coal into eight roaring furnaces. He expects promotion to the position of second molder's helper next week. He is a son of J. Charless Cabanne, president of the St. Louis Dairy Co.

ECZEMA



Eczema sets the skin on fire. The acid poisons in the blood are forced out through the pores of the skin, causing intense redness, burning and itching. So terrible is the itching at times, especially when the body is overheated, that the almost distracted sufferer feels that he could tear the skin to pieces, and that he must scratch or go crazy. He knows from experience that this only makes matters worse, but, made desperate by the terrible burning and itching, he is for the time being indifferent to after effects. There are several forms of Eczema, the moist, or weeping kind, that comes in little pustules which discharge a watery, sticky fluid, which dries and peels off in bran-like scales. So profuse is the discharge at times that large scabs or crusts form, which are both painful and troublesome, and not easily removed. Red, disfiguring bumps and sores are symptoms of Eczema. The dry form usually attacks the head, hands and feet; the skin, becoming hard and rough, often cracking open and bleeding, and attended with much itching. Eczema depends upon a poisoned condition of the blood, and local applications, while soothing and cooling, and may to some extent relieve the inflammation and itching, cannot be considered cures, because external remedies do not reach constitutional or blood diseases. Salves, ointments, powders, lotions and soaps do more harm than good, by smearing over and sealing up the pores of the skin, thus forcing the poison back into the blood. S. S. S. antidotes and neutralizes the acid poisons and drives out of the circulation all impurities and humors, and the pure, rich blood that is carried to the diseased skin quickly allays the inflammation, opens the clogged up pores, and the skin becomes soft, smooth and ready to perform its proper functions. To be rid of Eczema you must first purify and build up the blood, and nothing so surely and effectually does this as S. S. S., the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier. Send for our book on blood and skin diseases, and write our physicians for any information or advice you may desire. Medical advice and book free.

Mr. L. Marno, Escondido, San Diego County, Cal., writes: "My body broke out with a rash or eruption which in spite of all efforts to cure continued to get worse. The itching, especially at night, was simply terrible; it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many highly recommended preparations without benefit, and hearing of S. S. S. determined to give it a fair trial, and was inexpressibly delighted when a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and pimple from my body. I shall not fail to recommend S. S. S. whenever an opportunity occurs.

Volunteer Army Officers Will Probably Receive Heavy Sentences.

MANILA, June 12.—At the court-martial of Capt. Michael Spellman, Lieut. Delbert R. Jones and Surgeon Dudley Welch of the Forty-third Volunteer Infantry, in southern Leyte, on the charge of trading in permits to shim hemp from closed ports, Surgeon Welch turned state's evidence and gave testimony incriminating Capt. Spellman and Lieut. Jones, who will probably receive terms of imprisonment. Welch, who appears to have been a tool of the others, has returned $1000, his share of the spoils, to the government. The evidence disclosed that the value of the hemp cleared from Maasin was about five hundred thousand dollars in the last six months.

TRANSPORTATION IS THE PROBLEM

It Occupies Time of Fair Site Committee,

FULL INFORMATION IS WANTED

EXPOSITION WILL NOT HAVE DIRECTOR BUCHANAN'S SERVICES.

President Francis Suggests That St. Louis Manufacturers Furnish Louisiana Purchase Building at Buffalo.

The transportation problem continues to occupy the time of the World's Fair site committee, which will meet again at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Acting President Corwin H. Spencer said to the Post-Dispatch Wednesday morning that the railroad companies had been requested to furnish detailed information regarding the terminal facilities of the various sites.

Until this is supplied the site cannot be chosen.

The advocates of the North St. Louis sites, which are well supplied with railroad lines and terminal yards, have taken heart from the committee's dilemma over the transportation problem, and are preparing figures showing the ease with which thousands of cars can be delivered upon the grounds each day.

Facilities for delivering freight during the construction period would necessarily involve facilities for delivering passengers during the Fair.

A telegram from Buffalo states that Director-General W. I. Buchanan of the Pan-American Exposition will not be connected with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in any capacity.

This is taken to mean that Mr. Buchanan has decided to accept the presidency of a New York bank or trust company, which has been offered to him, at a salary of $25,000 a year.

He has been invited to come to St. Louis after the site committee has finished its work, and look over the ground for the purpose of offering suggestions in connection with the plan and scope of the Fair.

Officials of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition say that, while Mr. Buchanan was not offered the director-generalship, it was desired to have him connected with the enterprise in some capacity, and negotiations were opened to that end.

The suggestion in a telegram from President Francis in New York that the furniture manufacturers of St. Louis donate the furniture for the Louisiana Purchase building at Buffalo will probably be taken up by the St. Louis Furniture Board of Trade. Grand Rapids furnished the Michigan building, and St. Louis, as a furniture manufacturing center, is second only to Grand Rapids.

The building will be dedicated July 2, when members of the board of directors will go to Buffalo.

In addition to hearing reports from nearly all the standing committees, the directors, at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, changed the by-laws so as to increase the committees on police, ceremonies and fish and fisheries from three to five members each. The committee on foreign relations was increased from five to seven members.

The next board meeting will be held June 25.

Secretary Stevens departed Tuesday night for Philadelphia, where he will represent the Exposition company at the Southern Industrial convention.

SAYS IMMUNITY WAS PROMISED

Mrs. Press Says Fred Ziegenhein Accepted $18.50.

"TOLD NOT TO FEAR," SAID SHE

SHE WAS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING BUILDING ORDINANCE.

When She Was Again Arrested Ziegenhein Did Not Appear in Court and Mrs. Press Was Fined $105.

When the case of Mrs. Katherine Press of 4348 Manchester avenue, charged with a violation of the building ordinances, was reached in the Dayton Street Police Court Wednesday morning, Attorney W. H. Cocke, representing the defendant, asked that all the witnesses be called.

Deputy Marshal Kiely called the names of Building Commissioner Longfellow and a few others subpened by the city.

"I had a summons issued for Fred Ziegenhein," Mr. Cocke announced, "and I would like to know if he is in court."

A search was made through the court papers and it was found that the subpena had been served on the son and secretary of the former mayor by Deputy Marshal von Brunn. Thereupon, Mr. Kiely, who is a son of the chief of police, called: "Fred Ziegenhein, Fred Ziegenhein, come forward," but there was no response.

Mr. Cocke's reason for desiring the presence of the junior Ziegenhein in court was evident when Mrs. Press began her testimony.

"After I was in court before," Mrs. Press told Judge Wislizenus, "I paid young Mr. Ziegenhein $18.50, and he told me I wouldn't be bothered any more. That was what surprised me when I got a summons again the other day."

After much arguing between the attorneys and the judge and much questioning of the witness, it developed that last November she had been summoned before Judge Sidener on a charge of using as a dwelling a frame structure which she had moved from the south side of Chouteau avenue, just east of Newstead, to 4348 Manchester avenue, on a petition signed by the necessary quota of property owners, which stated that she intended to use the structure as a horse stable.

Mrs. Press said her attorney failed to appear for her in court at the proper time and that she read in a newspaper that she had been fined $300. Later she appeared in court herself and was fined. She didn't remember the amount she was fined.

Thomas E. Mulvihill, special prosecutor, said he was prepared to prove that she had been fined only $5.

"After the court was over," said Mrs. Press, "somebody told me to see the mayor and see if he couldn't do something for me. I went to the mayor's office and Mayor Ziegenhein told me to see his son. I went outside into a big room and saw a young man sitting at a desk.

"I don't know his first name, but it was young Ziegenhein. He told me that for $18.50 it would be all right and that I wouldn't be bothered any more. 'If anybody bothers you,' he said, "come and see me.' So I went home and didn't think any more about it until last week, when I got a summons to come to court again."

Judge Wislizenus indicated that he might continue the case to give Fred Ziegenhein a chance to explain matters. The court said that the testimony of Mrs. Press placed the former city official in a disagreeable light.

Attorneys Mulvihill and Cocke both opposed the suggestion. Mr. Cocke, in particular, said he went to the trouble to have a subpena issued for the former mayor's secretary and that he had evidently disregarded it.

Mr. Cocke announced tht his client would plead guilty to a technical violation of the ordinance. He explained that her guilt was due purely to her ignorance of the true status of affairs, growing out of her transaction at the mayor's office.

Judge Wislizenus thereupon stated that he would impose the minimum fine, $5 on Mrs. Press on her promise not to violate the building ordinances in the future.

This amount was paid.

On a charge of "maintaining a wooden dwelling inside the city fire limits," Mrs. Press was fined $100.

On this fine a stay of execution was granted.

CLAIM THEY STOLE A MINE.

Important Suits Filed in Idaho by Patrick Clark.

MOSCOW, Idaho, June 12.—A sensational mining suit was filed in the United States Circuit Court here. It is a battle of the giants. On one side are pitted Patrick Clark, the noted mining man of Spokane, and a group of associates; on the other, Charles Sweeney, the well-known Spokane operator; F. R. Culbertson, another well-known Spokane mining man and two big corporations mining in Idaho and operating financially in New York City.

Clark and associates charge Sweeney and Culbertson with swindling them out of two mining claims in the Coeur d'Alenes, valued at millions of dollars. They sue for the recovery of these claims, for a receivership thereof, for an injunction restraining defendants from extracting ore from the disputed ground and for an accounting for ore already extracted, which is valued at about half a million. The allegation is made that Sweeney's company, the Buffalo Hump company, is virtually insolvent, and that Empire State-Idaho Co. has little property of value beyond the disputed ground.

The complaint is an intensely interesting story of alleged intrigue, falsehood and misrepresentation by which it is claimed the injured owners of the disputed ground were induced to part with property valued at $1,000,000 for a consideration of $4000.

The disputed claims adjoin the Tiger-Poorman mine at Burke, Idaho. Clark and the other complainants allege that Sweeney and Culbertson unlawfully explored the disputed ground by means of diamond drills, operated at a depth of 1600 feet; that they located a great ore chute, broke into it, extracted ore and paid dividends and then bought the claims for $4000 on the alleged false representation that the ground was no good. The title of the bill is Patrick Clark, Benjamin C. Kingsbury, James Clark and James P. Harvey, compainants, vs. the Buffalo Hump Mining Co., a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New York, and the Empire State-Idaho Mining and Developing Co., a corporation organized under the laws of the state of New York, defendants.

Mrs. Kennedy Laughs and Talks in Court.

QUICK TO PROMPT COUNSEL

WOMEN CROWD THE ROOM AND BRING THEIR LUNCHES.

The Interest Shown by the Prisoner's Sex One of the Striking Features of the Kansas City Murder Trial

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—This, the ninth day of the trial of Lulu Prince-Kennedy for the murder of her husband, Philip H. Kennedy, saw no abatement of interest in the case. The courtroom was crowded two hours before Judge Wofford appeared, dozens of women bringing their lunches, prepared to remain through the hour and a half noon recess.

The prisoner was even more cheerful than yesterday. She laughed and talked constantly with those about her, and occasionally prompted her attorneys to bring out a desired point.

The display of big hats and summer dresses continues. The women are the most eager attendants upon the trial. They stand at the doors and plead for admission. They grow angry when refused and claim the seats reserved for lawyers when they do gain entree to the place where one of their sex is having her life history laid bare and is being tried before the 12 men who have her future in their hands.

No matter how revolting the testimony may be, or what language is used, these women stick to their seats as though they had paid a fancy price for them and insisted upon getting their money's worth. This applies to girls who are in their "teents" as well as to women of mature years. Throughout the proceedings girls who are still of school age listen to every word that is spoken. The surroundings and influences of the courtroom and the trial are nothing less than demoralizing, but these young creatures drink it all in.

One woman, whose face has been seen there every day of the trial, said, boastfully, that she had been there at every session and that it was "great fun." That is just what a great many of the women are there for. They think it great fun to hear the mistakes of a young woman paraded before a greedy-eared crowd.

Judge Wofford has very little sympathy for the women who attend the trial so regularly. Yesterday, when several of them arose from their seats in order that they might look at Mrs. Kennedy, who was just then entering the courtroom, the judge ordered them to sit down, and he did it in a manner that indicated his disgust. The marshal was a little more emphatic in his demand for order, and the women, determined and brazen still, had to be content with the "rubbering" process which follows every move the defendant makes.

It is the state's contention that Mrs. Kennedy's actions between the time of her marriage and the time of the tragedy were not the acts of a person who was grieving over grave troubles. Mr. Hadley says that if the defense opens the way for this kind of testimony he will have about fifty witnesses in rebuttal, to show the specific acts of the young woman and to prove that she was having a good time rather than brooding over her wrongs.

The state wound its coils a little tighter around C. W. Prince and Will Prince yesterday, when it offered more evidence to show that the former was near the New Ridge building at the time of the killing and that he had made significant remarks about his daughter's troubles, and that Will Prince was with his sister at two places on the afternoon of the tragedy. There was evidence to the effect that Will Prince handed a hankerchief to his sister while they were standing at Eleventh and Park, but it was not shown whether or not there was anything in the handkerchief. The position of the state in regard to this matter is that the handkerchief contained a revolver.

The friendly relations of Mrs. Kennedy and Case Patten, the baseball player, were gone into further by the state. One witness saw them out riding several times, and another saw them walking. The state has more evidence along this line for rebuttal.

Today H. H. Allen, for whom the defendant had worked in the capacity of stenographer, told of Kennedy calling on her at his office frequently.

Other employes of Allen's office corroborated this testimony. C. F. Bernhardt, who had been present immediately after the murder, saw Will Prince scuffling with Thomas Kennedy, the dead man's brother, who had tried to disarm Mrs. Kennedy. A policeman attempted to arrest Prince, and she had said: "Let that man go; I did the shooting."

C. F. Woody, who had boarded at the Prince house, testified that Kennedy called on Miss Prince at numerous times last summer. He had seen her walking in front of Kennedy's office after the forced marriage, and she appeared careworn and worried.

Edward W. Lewis, a shipping clerk, began to tell of a conversation he had had with Kennedy after the latter's marriage, but its admission was objected to. A lengthy argument ensued.

WILL BLOW UP THE NARROWS

Three and a Half Tons of Dynamite Will Be Exploded by Electric Connection.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Three and one-half tons of dynamite are to be exploded under the narrows, between Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth. The dynamite was used in torpedoes during the Spanish war as a defense to the harbor. After the war Maj. H. H. Adams of the engineer corps, instead of exploding the torpedoes extracted the charges and stored the dynamite. Maj. W. L. Marshall has advertised it for sale, but there have been no bids for it. Maj. Marshall has therefore decided to sink the dynamite in casks of 500 pounds each into the waters of the Narrows. Electric connections are to be made with the forts, and the dynamite will be exploded by the touch of a key. When Maj. Marshall sets off his 7200 pounds of dynamite Staten Island fishermen expect to get a wonderful catch.

FROM CHICAGO TO EUROPE.

Several Steamship Lines Will Probably Be Established.

MONTREAL, June 12.—Warren F. Purdy, manager of the Northwestern Steamship Co. of Chicago, who is in town, says that the company is satisfied with its venture in having ships ply directly between Chicago and Great Britain by way of the St. Lawrence route. There is $1,000,000 invested in the four steamers already running and two more are to be constructed immediately. Mr. Purdy says he is satisfied with the announcement of the Dominion government that there is 14 feet of clear water in the St. Lawrence canals is well founded, as on the voyage of the Northtown, which has just come through, he held the tape himself and found a minimum depth of more than 14 feet. Mr. Purdy predicts that other Chicago shipping firms will follow the lead set by his company and expects to see half a dozen different lines plying direct between Chicago and Europe. There is, in his opinion, an astonishing future before the St. Lawrence waterway.

RANDS LAW REPEALED.

Washington Legislature Provides for Execution of Criminals.

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 12.—When the special session of the Washington legislature convened in this city ten of the senators and 24 representatives were absent. The judiciary committee of each house held a joint meeting and agreed to recommend that the Rands law be repealed before it goes into effect, and one of similar intent but with a clause providing for the execution of criminals now under sentence be enacted. A short time afterward the Senate repealed the Rands law. The House will do the same today, after which the new bill will be introduced and pushed through.

WOMAN TELLS OF HER WRONGS

Mississippi State Senator Accused of Perfidy.

ALLEGED BOGUS MARRIAGE

STORY OF MRS. IDA BOLLS, THE PRETTY COMPLAINANT.

If She Had Had Her Way a Bullet Would Have Ended Senator Bradley's Life and Stopped the Suit.

Sepcial to the Post-Dispatch.

CANTON, Miss., June 12.—Dressed in a becoming summer costume, Mrs. Ida Bolls, told in court the story of her alleged wrong at the hands of State Senator R. L. Bradley.

Mrs. Bolls maintained that she is the victim of a mock marriage to Bradley, and that she is entitled to damages in a large sum for the injustice and humiliation that has been heaped upon her. Mrs. Bolls has many influential friends in the state. Soon after Bradley, who is a state senator and one of the leading politicians of the state, had been indicted for seduction of Mrs. Bolls under a fraudulent marriage, the latter walked into the hotel at Raymond, where Bradley, Judge Powell, the district attorney and others sat at the dinner, pulled a pistol from the folds of her dress and sent a bullet through Bradley's neck.

SENATOR R. L. BRADLEY.

She tried to shoot again, but was overpowered. Bradley soon recovered and returned to his seat in the senate. When the next court met he secured a change of venue to Madison County.

When the trial came on yesterday a motion was made to continue the case until the next term of court on the ground that several witnesses for the defense could not be found. The motion was overruled. The greater portion of the morning was consumed in securing a jury and other preliminaries. Owing to the nature of the case the courtroom was cleared of all persons except officers of the court, newspaper reporters and ministers of the gospel.

The first witness called was Mrs. Ida Bolls. She testified as follows: She had lived in the town of Bolton, Hinds County, Miss., for more than 15 years. She was guardian for the children of Mr. Alexander. The defendant, R. L. Bradley, as their attorney, frequently came to see her on business and finally induced her to consent to a secret marriage. She consented because he represented to her that he had promised his mother to remain single as long as she lived and he feared the consequences of breaking his promise to her. She married him on the 4th of March, 1898, in her home, at midnight, his brother, C. L. Bradley, being a witness. The person who performed the ceremony was an old man, representing himself as the minister of the Methodist Church at Natchez. Bradley lived with her for nearly a year as her husband, and visited her secretly twice a week. He sent her to New Orleans for medical treatment, where he afterward joined her. The lady with whom they boarded, Mrs. Albricht, took from Bradley's pocket while he was asleep the marriage license and gave it to witness. Becoming suspicious of the legality of the marriage, she called in friends and made the discovery that the license and marriage certificate were fraudulent.

Upon cross-examination she stated that she had been married twice and was 35 years of age. She was first married when 14 years of age to Mr. Overby, from whom she was divorced, and subsequently married J. B. Bolls, who died in 1895. Witness declared that she now considers herself in the eyes of God Mr. Bradley's wife.

Discovering that Mr. Bradley was visiting the daughter of Mr. Sharkey at Jackson, she informed that lady that he was her husband and after that Mr. Bradley repudiated her, denying the marriage.

The marriage license was introduced and identified by the witness. The name of the chancery clerk is signed to it and not the circuit clerk, who is the proper officer for issuing marriage licenses. The license bears evidence of having had erasures made and the name of H. L. Bradley and Ida Bolls inserted. A ring was introduced which Mrs. Bolls took from her finger upon which the name was engraved, from R. L. B. to I. L. B., which she stated was given her at her engagement.

Letters were exhibited addressed to Mrs. Bolls, signed by Bradley, addressing her as his wife.

She consented, she said, to medical treatment at New Orleans, 'because she loved him."

Stella Alexander, neice of Mrs. Bolls, was introduced. She testified that she lived with her aunt after the death of her mother until two years ago.

One night she was awakened by three men entering the house late at night, and she recognized one as being Bradley; the other was unknown to her. Looking through the crack of the door, she saw them enter Mrs. Bolls' room and after remaining about half an hour the two men went away and Mr. Bradley remained all night with Mrs. Bolls.

Mattie Alexander remembered that three men entered the house, but saw none of them. George Jones, colored, saw three men enter Mrs. Bolls' room late at night. He recognized the voice of Bradley.

Mrs. Emma Birdsong, Mrs. Hardy, Ira E. Davis, Miss Nettie Davis, Em O'Connell and Mrs. D. M. Birdsong, all residents of Bolton, testified that previous to her relations with Bradley, Mrs. Bolls had a reputation for chastity and virtue.

The state at this point rested its case, and C. F. Klingman, witness for the defense, testified that Mrs. Bolls was not a virtuous woman prior to her alleged marriage to Bradley.

T. B. Davis testified that Mrs. Bolls' reputation for chastity was bad. He saw Mr. Bruce in the room with her in 1888. P. D. Davis and Maj. T. C. Pepper both testified to the bad reputation of Mrs. Bolls.

Senator Bradley's defense is a denial of the mock marriage and a declaration that the suit of Mrs. Bolls is an attempt at blackmail.

JEWELERS OBJECT TO ORDER.

They Say Advertising Clocks Are Conveniences and Not Obstructions.

Downtown jewelers who display large clocks above the sidewalk as signs are opposed to the mayor's order for the removal of street obstructions, which has been interpreted by the police to include their clocks.

An ordinance designed to authorize the placing of clocks over the sidewalks was sent to President Phillips of the Board of Public Improvements Wednesday by several jewelry dealers who have been notified to remove their "obstructions."

The ordinance is accompanied by a petition setting forth that the clocks are a public convenience and not a nuisance.

In the proposed ordinance it is stipulated that the clocks shall at all times be kept running, keep correct city time, shall be supported on bases of standard metal not more than 12 inches in diameter, that their disks shall be not more than 5 feet in diameter and that they shall be at least 10 feet above the sidewalk.

For any violation of the terms of the ordinance the street commissioner may revoke the permit for the maintenance of the clocks.

SURVEYOR RUDELY TREATED.

Charles L. Baker Was Attacked and His Instruments Broken.

Charles L. Baker, a civil engineer, employed by the St. Louis and Belleville Traction Co., undertook Tuesday to do some surveying on the farm of Jacob Becherer for the proposed line from Edgemont to O'Fallon.

It was not agreeable to the Becherers to have surveyors' stakes stuck into their landscape, and Charles and Richard Becherer gathered as many pitchforks and hoe handles as they could find and made a reconnaissance in force.

When Mr. Baker's assistant saw them coming he left hastily. Baker considered that he had done no wrong and stood his ground. The Becherers got right down to business as soon as they were in striking distance. They swatted the surveyor with the hoe handles and tried to stick him with the pitchforks, he avers. When they had belabored him to their satisfaction they pulled up his stakes and took his instruments away from him, which they retained for the alleged damage to their crops.

Manager Bramlette of the traction company, through Attorney M. W. Borders, swore out warrants before Justice Wangelin against the Becherers. They were arrested Tuesday afternoon by Constable Lautz and taken to Belleville.

DOG WENT TO JAIL.

William Simpson's Faithful Pet Was a Good Witness.

When Officer Thomas Drury started to arrest William Simpson, a peddler, on St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, Tuesday afternoon, Simpson's faithful dog jumped upon the officer and tried to prevent him.

Drury was impressed by the dog's loyalty and would not kill it. The animal followed the patrol wagon to the station, barking loudly all the way. Arriving there, it followed Simpson to his cell and whined so pitifully in front of the bars that it was finally admitted, at Simpson's request.

The dog spent the night with its head resting upon Simpson's body. It was given breakfast with the rest of the prisoners and when Simpson was arraigned for hearing before Magistrate Moritz Oehler, Wednesday, the dog stood with its front feet on the judge's bench and looked wistfully at him.

"Whose dog is that" asked the magistrate.

"It's mine, you honor," meekly replied Simpson.

"Well, a man who has that faithful a dog must have some good qualities in him. I'll make your fine only $5 for this reason," added Judge Oehler.

Simpson paid his fine and the dog licked his hand and followed him out of the courtroom.

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY'S THEFT.

Stole a Gold Watch and Sold It for One Dollar.

Mrs. Alice Mitchell of 1728 Division avenue, East St. Louis, reported to the police two months ago that someone had stolen her $75 gold watch from its place of concealment in a folding bed.

Sergeant Thomas E. Walsh worked quietly on the case and finally concluded that the thief was Harry Sneeley, Mrs. Mitchell's 10-year-old nephew, who lived with her. The boy was put through a sweating process and he finally admitted having stolen the watch and sold it to a workman for $1.

It was traced to a pawnbroker's in St. Louis, where it was recovered Wednesday and returned to Mrs. Mitchell. On account of the boy's age she will not prosecute.

Rejoicing Among St. Louis School Teachers.

BOARD VOTED UNANIMOUSLY

J. A. LONG SUCCEEDS MR. BRYAN AS SUPPLY COMMISSIONER.

George T. Murphy, Ben Blewett and Charles M. Foster Were Elected Assistants to Supt. Soldan at $3500 a Year.

The 1710 public school teachers of St. Louis are happy.

As predicted in the Post-Dispatch, the salary of each and every one of them was raised by the board of education at its meeting Tuesday night.

The total increase amounts to $51,948. Teachers who have received less than $1000 a year will have a 5-per-cent increase, beginning with the next school term.

Those between $1000 and $1500 were raised 4 per cent, and those over $1500, 3 per cent. The increase was voted unanimously by the board.

The other salaries fixed by the board were as follows: Building commissioner, $1000 increase; supply commissioner, $400 increase; attorney, $1000 decrease; assistant superintendents, $3500, no change; secretary, $3600, no change; auditor, $2000, no change.

John A. Long, the only candidate suggested for supply commissioner, was elected to succeed Mr. Bryan, who has held the position 16 years.

Charles P. Mason was elected auditor, receiving 9 votes to 3 for John O. Rolfe and none for T. P. Plumeridge.

C. L. Hammerstein was re-elected secretary and William B. Ittner was chosen to succeed himself as building commissioner.

Judge Rombauer Elected Attorney.

The contest for attorney of the board was between Judge R. E. Rombauer and F. N. Judson, the former receiving 8 votes and the latter 4.

Superintendant Soldan recommended the reappointment of George T. Murphy, Ben Blewett and Charles M. Foster as assistant superintendants for a term of two years, and the appointments were made.

Supt. Soldan also announced that he had appointed W. J. Stevens principal of the Pope school and Albert B. Lawyer principal of the Meramec school.

Secretary Hammerstein announced the appointment of George Blackmore as bailiff in his office, succeeding G. M. Baare, deceased.

The committee on school sites reported that it had three available sites in view near St. Louis and Burd avenues, the prices on which were $1000, $1600 and $700, respectively. No action was taken on the report.

Secretary R. M. Yost of the Missouri commission to the Pan-American Exposition, wrote, complimenting the board upon the excellent exhibit of the St. Louis schools.

The following resignations were announced:

Miss Stella M. Felton, principal Compton School; Henry W. Thayer, assistant High School; C. F. Baker, assistant High School; Mary S. Ittner, fourth assistant High School; Caroline L. Fitch, teacher domestic science, Shepard School; Hannah J. Skillman, head assistant, Madison School; Lizzie R. Williams, first assistant Grant School; Kate H. Haus, first assistant Shepard School; Mrs. Theresa Ricksen, second assistant Eliot School; Fannie Wachtel, second assistant Carroll School; Margaret R. Johnston, second assistant Carroll School; Alice T. Herthel, second assistant Blow School; Josephine E. Methudv second assistant Hodgen School; Esther Cordner, second assistant Chouteau School; Henrietta Marbes, formerly third assistant Hodgen School.

INVITATIONS ARE HAND-MADE.

Pupils of the Shaw School Prepare for the Close.

The children of the Shaw School have issued neatly designed hand-made invitations, adorned with pen and ink drawings, for their closing exercises Friday. They are written on white paper with an orange border. In the left-hand corner is a picture of a dove bearing a letter. In the right-hand corner is a drawing of an open book, one page bearing the words "Shaw School" and the other "June 14, 1901." The invitation is as follows:

"The children of Shaw School invite you most cordially to our closing exercises, consisting of music, recitations, calisthenics and a party. Come and help us have a good time."

DELMAR'S "BOHEMIAN GIRL."

It Proved a Strong Card on the First Real Hot Night This Season.

Hot weather, the first real hot weather of the season, drew crowds to the summer gardens last night. It was the biggest night of the season so far, and Delmar Garden seemed to be greatly sought. The especial attraction there is the Delmar Opera company in "The Bohemian Girl," which it is putting on in first-class shape.

The company is well cast, Helen Bertram as Arline being seen to better advantage than in anything she has been seen in in St. Louis for years. Harred Gordon, as Thaddeus, is acceptable, while Blanche Chapman makes a fine Gypsy queen. Fred Frear's Devilshoof is up-to-date.

The other attractions at the garden are now all open.

HEADLESS BODY IDENTIFIED.

Dead Woman Found Near Boston Is Wife of Mill Operative.

LOWELL, Mass., June 12.—The woman whose headless body was found in Chelmsford woods last Sunday and whose head was found yesterday was identified today as Mrs. Margaret Blondin of Boston. The identification was made by Mrs. Margaret Casey of Lawrence, sister of Mrs. Blondin. The dead woman married Mr. Blondin, a French Canadian mill operative, last February. It is not known where the man is at present.

Mrs. Blondin had been missing since April. Her maiden name was Riley. She met Blondin in Chelmsford, while working in a mill there, and their courtship covered only a few months. The couple lived in Boston for a time. About two months ago Mrs. Blondin returned to Lawrence. It was said that she and her husband had separated because Blondin wanted her to accompany him on a trip to Canada and she declined to go.

In April she came here and later went to Boston, where she rejoined her husband. Soon after Blondin said that she had gone to Canada. He disappeared shortly afterward. The authorities are trying to locate Blondin.

LOVE FINALLY TRIUMPHED.

Attorney Dinning and His Bride Disregarded Religious Differences.

Love laughed at parental objections when Louis F. Dinning, Jr., of De Soto, Mo., and Miss Florence L. E. Marriott of Sulphur Springs, Mo., were married Tuesday afternoon at St. Lawrence O'Toole's Catholic Church by Rev. Martin S. Brennan.

Mr. Dinning is a Catholic and his bride is a Protestant. They were engaged for a year before the wedding, but their marriage was opposed by their parents on account of their religious differences.

They concluded a week ago that they would not consider the objections any longer and the elopement was planned. Mr. and Mrs. Dinning returned to De Soto immediately after the wedding, where Mr. Dinning resumed his duties as prosecuting attorney of Jefferson County.

PROFESSOR WAS UNFAITHFUL

Daughter of Ambassador White Sues Her Husband, Formerly of Cornell, for Divorce.

SANDUSKY, O., June 12.—Suit for divorce alleging statutory grounds and desertion, has been brought by Mrs. Clara B. Newberry, daughter of Andrew D. White, ambassador to Germany. The defendant, her husband, is Prof. S. S. Newberry, president of the Diamond Portland Cement Co. of this city. Mr. Newberry was formerly professor of chemistry in Cornell University. He married the ambassador's daughter when Mr. White was president of Cornell, and the wedding was a memorable one in the social annals of Ithaca.

Mrs. Newberry charges her husband with unfathfulness and mentions several names in this connection. The Newberrys lived in the most aristocratic section of Sandusky. They have two sons, the eldest being now with Ambassador White in Germany. The younger boy is with his mother. Mrs. Newberry separated from her husband after a stormy scene. She was granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the Moss National Bank of Sandusky from paying over any money pending the suit.

Mrs. Newberry is a beautiful woman and a social favorite.

MRS. BOTHA A MYSTERY.

She Has Effectively Concealed Her Mission to London.

LONDON, June 12.—Peace in South Africa is still a cuckoo song, although the echoes come from many quarters. The most effective peacemaker is probably the discreet wife of the Boer commander-in-chief, who has concealed her work in London and baffled the most enterprising newsgatherers. While there is no authentic information, it is generally believed that she has delivered to Lord Milner, or to Mr. Chamberlain, some messages from Gen. Botha and other Boer leaders, and that Mr. Kruger has also been consulted.

South African rumors respecting an exchange of cable communications between the Boer leaders and Mr. Kruger are less credible. The surrender of a small commando at Pietersburg is encouraging the optimists to hope that the end is close at hand, but the judgment of the more experienced South Africans is that the war will drag along for several months, and that the only result of premature peace negotiations will be the renewal of pro-Boer agitation in England.

WHY OUR ENGINES DISPLEASE.

They Are Built in America, but After Foreign Design.

NEW YORK, June 12.—"They have no real American locomotives abroad, strictly speaking, and the critics of the engines do not know what they are." So said A. M. Waitt, superintendent of motive power and rolling stock for the New York Central Railroad system. He was speaking of the cabled reports of the unfavorable criticisms passed by foreign railroad officials upon the American-made locomotives with which they have lately been experimenting.

"The locomotives they refer to," Mr. Waitt continued, "are American in make and truth, but they are English and foreign in dimensions, caliber and power. Owing to the restrictions made necessary by narrow and lower tunnels and other essential differences which characterize English roads as compared with ours—and the same is largely true, I understand, on the continent—it is simply impossible for them to utilize such a machine, as we now regard as a truly American locomotive. The result is they get a sort of hybrid affair built by American skill, but on foreign lines, and to meet foreign requirements, and then if it does not prove to be all they had hoped for they proceed to criticise the American locomotives."

Mr. Waitt went on to say that in England the practice is to nurse locomotives and let them grow old, while in this country the practice is to run them hard and use them to their fullest capacity.

Angus Sinclair, editor of Railway and Locomotive Engineering, years ago drove locomotives on the Caledonian Railroad in Scotland, being a Scotchman by birth. He visits Europe yearly and he has studied the subject of locomotives in every country there except Spain.

"Prejudice, prejudice," he said, when the subject of American locomotives was broached. "Two-thirds of it at least is simply prejudice. It is hard to get a British or a European engine driver to make a favorable report on a Yankee machine or a Yankee invention of any kind. But they will come to it, in spite of their prejudices. The American locomotive will win its way in Great Britain and Europe, that is certain."

Health for All Women

Cumbow, Va., September 13, 1900.

I can truthfully say that Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught have done me more good than all the other medicines I ever took. I have had better health and have been able to do more work this summer than I have in ten years before. I have persuaded others to use your medicine. Mrs. MINERVA N. BARBER.

Women may be healthy. There is no excuse for all the suffering there is in the world. Thousands who would be filling premature graves or dragging out lives of suffering are happy and healthy because they took Wine of Cardui. There is no mystery about this.

WINE OF CARDUI

is the medicine provided by Nature to strengthen and regulate the menstrual organs of women. Nature never intended all women to suffer. If they do suffer it is because they have neglected some natural law. They have neglected some little menstrual irregularity which has grown into falling of the womb or one of the long calendar of ills to which women are subject. Only women know the awful distress continued menstrual disorders bring. Headaches, backaches, aches in every limb and pains in the abdomen, neck and chest all combine to make the sufferer's life one of misery. By taking Wine of Cardui these pains can be banished quickly and permanently. This simple medicine has cured a million women. It will cure you. Try it! All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

For advice and literature, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.

"Strong and hearty boy, is it, and no pain? That's good!"

The joy of a new arrival in the family is usually overcast by the shadow of the pain and discomfort the expectant mother must bear.

If she knew of and used "MOTHER'S FRIEND," this would be all dispelled. Tell your friends about it, as being a simple liniment, exclusively for external use, that relaxes the muscles so that pain and suffering are unknown.

It will be sent by express paid on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or can be bought at all responsible Druggists. Book, "Motherhood," mailed free, containing sensible advice to expectant mothers.

FRANCHISE AND SCHOOL TAXES.

The practical importance of a just assessment of franchises in St. Louis is illustrated by the alternative presented between that and an increased levy for school purposes.

This was brought out at the hearing before the Board of Equalization Tuesday.

The question is, shall the home and real estate owners and the general business of the city go on paying on an assessment based upon 66 per cent of actual property, while the street railroad properties are assessed 30 or 35 per cent.

It is of very pressing, practical importance to the small home owner and man of limited means.

This is a question for the consideration of the Board of Equalization. The Post-Dispatch ventures to hope that a remedy which shall correct this inequality and do equal and exact justice to all will be speedily found. The task of the board is difficult and complicated, but the evil in St. Louis is so glaring that the way seems tolerably clear.

The St. Clair County, Ill., board of supervisors has decided to publish the names of all persons receiving aid from the county, thus humiliating those already in the depth of woe. OUR BIG, RED STRAWBERRIES.

Missouri's big, red, juicy and well-flavored strawberries have carried off the gold medals at Buffalo. In one exhibit, by the Monett Horticultural Society, 2592 baskets of this fruit were shown. All other states were eclipsed. The mouths of the judges watered when they got to the Missouri display. It was a case of "Seek no further."

So now we can justly boast of fame in two important fruits—the big, red apple and the big, red strawberry. Favored Missouri may be compared to the sunny slopes of Southern Italy, where, it is said, on the lava-made soil, the apple trees support grapevines, while the ground beneath and between is rich with waving wheat. With our apple trees overhead, our strawberries under foot, flanked by corn as phenomenal as that of Kansas in her good years, Missouri is a modern Eden without the serpent.

She will show this at our own World's Fair. She will publish it abroad that here is the Garden of the World.

◆◆◆

Every mistake that has been made in great expositions can be avoided in the World's Fair of 1903, and the mistake of overbuilding in anticipation of World's Fair profits and World's Fair stimulus is one which we should be especially careful not to make. We must make our Exposition more successful than any other and at the same time benefit the city permanently.

THE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT.

President McKinley's statement that he is not a candidate for a third time and would not accept a nomination were it tendered, not only puts a quietus on the third-term agitation, but is a merited rebuke to the feather-head politicians who have sought notoriety by bandying about the President's name in connection with a third-term nomination.

Mr. McKinley's statement is dignified and unequivocal. His reasons for noticing the third-term talk are sufficient. Undoubtedly it has a prejudicial influence on the public and tends to arouse suspicion of the President's motives.

There will be a general gratification over the announcement among sane and patriotic men of all parties. It assures a better administration and reassures the public mind.

The Canadians reduced their tariff on coal oil and the price went up. The duty on binder twine was cut in two and the price of binder twine arose Then binder twine was put on the free list and the price went up again. Fence-wire duty was reduced and farmers now complain of its increased cost. It is marvelous that high tariff increases prices in the United States while low tariff and free trade increase them in Canada.

LOYAL TO ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis has produced the antithesis of William Walled-off Astor. One of her richest sons is little more than a youth. He is no accident of heredity. True, his father made a fortune which would have satisfied the average heir. But this young man was above the average. Within three years after his father's death he had more than doubled his inheritance. This was because he stayed at home and worked hard every day just as he did when he was only a salaried clerk.

There was no lack of allurements. He had a chance to live like a prince in New York, but he said: "I am a St. Louisan. My father made his money in St. Louis and St. Louis is a good enough place for me to live."

He still lives here and he is still making money. He is a model citizen.

Does he mark the turning of the tide? Too long St. Louis has been known as a place where genius found its best development and was least fitly rewarded. Men have left St. Louis by the score to carry the skein of greatness to the corners of the earth.

This remarkable young man has gathered the threads and is drawing them back. Will he succeed? The story of his career, his personality and his ambitions will be told in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

PROGRESS IN STREET RAILWAY REFORM.

Superintendent Grant has taken an important step further on the line, suggested by the Post-Dispatch, toward the betterment of the St. Louis Transit Co.'s service and its relations with the public.

Mr. Grant says that he has warned the employes that they will be held to strict accountability for all accidents to which carelessness on their part contributes. It is true, as Mr. Grant says, that accidents are due in part to carelessness on the part of the public. But if the company's employes exercise due care the public cannot complain.

But the serious consequences of unavoidable accidents and accidents due to carelessness on the part of both employes and victims may be reduced to a minimum by life-saving equipment on the cars.

Mr. Grant says he has also instructed all employes that civility toward passengers will be required of them and that penalties will be inflicted for violations of the rule of courtesy.

There is an obligation on the part of the public both as to care and courtesy. All sincere efforts on the part of the company to avoid accidents and irritating friction should be met in good spirit by the public. Misunderstandings will arise and mistakes will occur. The rule of courtesy and forbearance should be mutual. The street car men are human and should be treated with consideration.

Progress is making in the reform of street railway traffic. The improved spirit of the railway management promises better service which will create a better spirit on the part of the public.

This is the last week of work at the St. Louis public schools. The term will wind up with feasts, flowers, picnics and fun. The St. Louis boys and girls believe in the good old maxim: "Work while you work, and play while you play."

ARE YOU A GENIUS OR A FOOL?

If you want to know whether you are a genius or a fool, just ask Prof. Carl E. Seashore of the University of Iowa. He will tell you.

Prof. Seashore has invented a cunning little machine, which he calls psychergograph. Since the reader knows Greek of course he knows what the psychergograph is.

It registers your thoughts. It measures your mental processes, and when a great idea comes to you the psychergograph will proclaim its advent. When you think, the psychergograph gives you away as the possessor of a great head. When you think you think, it just as surely advertises you as a self-deceived humbug.

This curious instrument consists of two parts. One looks like a typewriter, the other like a telegraph instrument. Besides there are several levers, keys, slots, pencils, tape lines, etc.

Seriously, Dr. Seashore says of his invention: "It is not a mind gauge which measures the whole mind, but the power to do certain kinds of mental work may be measured correctly by it, such as attention, discrimination, perception, sensation and voluntary action."

Oh Science, Science, what follies are committed in thy name!

According to Judge Zachritz's decision, the saloon keeper must not only put up but shut up.

All the boys and girls of the St. Louis public schools have been wondering how they shall get the most fun out of the coming holidays. The Post-Dispatch Recreation Token Plan solves the problem for them.

G. E. K.—Yes, probably we are not acquainted with the details of the organisation and rules governing executive action.

B. W. C.—The Post-Dispatch has made several attempts to ascertain the origin of the phrase, "I am from Missouri; you must show me," but without success. No one seems to know how it arose.

J. F. K.—Yes; there are as many as 10 reputed millionaires in the United States Senate. But the fact may not justify the reputation in all cases.

H. R. J.—The time required to fit one's self for the stage depends upon age, education and natural aptitude. If you have no aptitude don't think of it. Yes, bashfulness can be cured by training of any kind.

A Sparrow Fight.

From the State Tribune, Jefferson City, Mo.

The fight lasted about 15 minutes, and both birds finally got to the ground in front of the Postal Telegraph office. Though it was fierce it was one-sided. They used the same tactics in fighting as the bull dog and held on like that fighting animal. One of the sparrows finally got the other one by the throat and dragged it to a puddle of water that was in the gutter near by. There it continued to duck its enemy with the rapidity of a ducking stool, until the under sparrow was nearly drowned. No noise was made except an occasional chirp from the one that was getting the worst of the fight. At last a break-away was effected, but neither could fly. The victor hopped into the Postal office, where it rested for a while and then flew away. The whipped bird hopped into the shade of the building, where it lingered awhile and died.

People Are Careless.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Give the devil his due. While many of the street car accidents are caused by careless handling of cars, it is also a fact that a large majority of them result from carelessness of the persons who are injured or damaged.

Such accidents are bound to occur as long as parents allow their small children to play in the streets on the car tracks, and stupid and half-drunken drivers of vehicles are careless and drive in front of cars without taking the necessary caution to avoid an accident. While the grandjury are investigating they should consider and suggest some remedy that will prevent people from being so careless. There are always two sides to such questions and both sides should be protected. OBSERVER.

Instead of using the trite, stale name of the "midway" in the World's Fair, I would respectfully suggest the name of "The Paseo" for that street or quarter. The name is taken from that of a well-known drive in one of our new possessions or Cuba (I think it's a Manila boulevard).

The Herron Idea of Marriage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Rev. Dr. Banks of New York, speaking of the marriage between Prof. George D. Herron and Miss Carrie Rand, uses this forceful language: "They took no vows. They simply announced that they were comrades. If the new apostolate should succeed it would bring man to the high ideal reached by the modern tramp (freedom from all conventional and social restraint). Prof. Herron, in so far as his theories (of marriage) are concerned, is undoubtedly a well-fed, well-groomed, acute specimen of the tramp."

Rev. Lyman Abbott, who has made an exhaustive study of the marriage relation in all its phases and effects, says of the family: "Upon its purity and permanence the purity and permance of the social order in all its forms depends."

In the North American Review of December, 1889, William Ewart Gladstone said: "The solidity and health of the social body depend upon the soundness of its unit. That unit is the family; and the hinge of the family is to be found in the great and profound institution of marriage."

Referring to the social corruption in Rome which culminated in regarding marrigae as purely a civil contract, Lecky, in his "History of European Morals," asserts: "There can be no doubt that under this system the obligations of marriage were treated with extreme levity. St. Jerome assures us there existed in Rome a wife who was married to her twenty-third husband, she herself being his twenty-first wife."

A beatific state of society, indeed! Under the Herron code and practice, how soon may we in republicanized, civilized and Christianized America come to the conditions described by St. Jerome?

Prof. Herron possesses redeeming characteristics, but he has committed a grave offense against modern social progress in returning to the Pagan's conception of marriage. WILLIAM EWING LOVE.

Expansion is the great glory of some today. It may be their great grief tomorrow. THE WRECK AT ROUBIDEAU

By Cy Warman.

ROUBIDEAU BRIDGE was a long wooden structure spanning the Gunnison a few hundred yards to the east of Roubideau tunnel. Emerging from the tunnel, east bound, the engineer found a rail curving to the left, hugging the hill that hid the bridge from view until his engine was almost upon it. That was when the road was new. Now the hill has been cut away and the track straightened from the mouth of the tunnel to the bridge. One day in August, 1883, there came a colud burst that flooded the western slope, as, old-timers said, it had not been flooded for years. The steep watershed, tipping toward the sunset, spilled the flood into the Cimarron and Uncompahgre, and they in turn poured it into the Gunnison until the stream was full to the bank tops.

And while this wild river went roaring down toward the cataracts of the Colorado, No. 8 came screaming up among the curves that wind away from the Utah Desert to that dark and dangerous crevice called the Black Canyon. Andy Degan, a "Q." man, who had come to Colorado with a good letter and one lung, had the first section of No. 8, an express, mail and baggage car, out of Grand Junction that night 40 minutes late. What the Mormon had lost climbing Soldier Summit Degan was expected to make up going down Cero Hill. Down there in the canyon he was striving only to lose no more time, for he was a new man running for a reputation Like all the old Burlington men, he was an expert driver, and took hazard cheerfully, realizing, it would seem, that he had, at best, only a few years to live. He had, at night, what was called a Rockaway engine, a high, short, compact locomotive, built for the kinks, so numerous in the first rough draft of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad. The night was still and starlit, the earth was dry and the silvery river on his right rippled away over the rocks, clear as crystal. The Rockaway made easy work of the three light cars, steamed like the Sprudel Brunn at Carlsbad, and ran like a deer. When the fireman was not fooling around the furnace door he hung over the armrest and watched the world go by. Degan, gaunt-faced and silent, sat at the open window trying the water and whistling for curves. Uncle Sam's servant in the mail car was shuffling letters and newspapers. He had finished the Ouray bag, which he would leave at Montrose, the Crested Buttes and Ruby Camp bags to be dropped at Gunnison, and was now making up the Leadville pouch for Salida. Over in the express car the messenger, hung about with six-shooters and stretched upon a canvas cot billed to the agent at Sapanero, was stealing a little sleep. Degan, being eastbound, had the right of way, and looked at his watch only occasionally to figure where No. 7 would meet him. His orders ran him 30 minutes late and made it the business of No. 7 to fix and make the passing point. The first section of No 8 was probably making 40 miles an hour when Degan whistled for Roubideau tunnel. A moment later it was swinging around the curve where the dark river lay in the shadow of the hill. While Degan, leaning out of his window, strained his eyes to get a glimpse of the bridge, the Rockaway turned sharply to the right and headed straight for the open river. Below the tunnel it had been a silvery, starlit stream; here it was a roaring river, running bankfull of black water. For an instant Degan thought the engine had left the truck, but feeling the rails still beneath her wheels, he realized a second later that the bridge was gone. The fireman saw the break in the track and leaped out of the cab as the engine plunged into the boiling flood. Degan, at the first scent of danger, closed the throttle and applied the air. As the engine dropped over the bank she turned on her side, releasing the patent coupling, and at the same time parting the air hose, applied the automatic pressure to the wheels of the three light cars so suddenly and so effectually that only the mail car tipped over and hung with her nose in the water. The mail agent climbed to the side door, and, with the help of the bleeding fireman, succeeded in escaping from the slanting car. When the postal clerk and fireman pounded on the door of the express car the messenger, waking suddenly, warned them if they attempted to enter the car he would shoot. The deafening roar of the river made it impossible to hear what he said, and when they began to heave great stones against the car door he made good his word; nor did he stop until a dozen 45-caliber bullets had crashed through the door and sides of the car. After waiting for some time the messenger concluded that the robbers had been frightnd away, and cautiously peeped out.

"Well, you idiot," said the postal clerk from beneath the car, "are you out of ammunition?"

Degan lived a lifetime in the moment when the Rockaway was leaping into the flood. When the engine struck bottom, 20 feet from the surface, she began rolling over and over like a corncob in a flooded barnyard. The picture of his past life which had been suddenly flashed before his eyes now disappeared, and the engineer, hopeless as it may seem, found himself watching for an opportunity to slip out of the cab of the rolling engine. Now he felt the engine slam up against a big boulder in the bottom of the river, and at the same time his hands grasped a floating something. It was the fireman's wastebox, and the engineer, holding hard to it, was dragged out of the cab and carried to the surface. He had barely time to breathe when a floating drift swept over him, forcing him into the water again He held to the wastebox, having a hand in one of the handles, and was soon brought to the breast of the river again. All this had occurred in a very brief space of time, but Degan was not a strong man, and the strain was beginning to tell on him. Once in a while, above the billows of the boiling flood, he got a glimpse of the low banks of the river running backward in the dim starlight. The roar was deafening. The river surged against the sands, the banks crumbled and great cottonwood trees that had stood there for half a century swayed to and fro, and finally fell into the roaring flood. At times the wastebox swung near the shore, eddied back, and then shot down the middle of the river at a furious rate. Unless you have seen a mountain stream at flood you can form only a faint notion of the force and speed of the Gunnison running bank full. Great rocks of the size of a sleeping car are rolled along at the bottom of the river, as marbles are rolled by the stream of a garden hose, and here, at the door of death, Degan turned to look, and was awed by the awfulness of the wild scene. When first he found himself at the front of a fast express, timing the train with a touch of his hand, fixing the speed by the turn of a lever, he had marveled, as most men do, at the speed and power of the locomotive; but all that was mean and tame compared with the force of this fearful flood.

As Degan began feeling strong again and was watching a chance to pull for the shore, the leafy top of a falling tree caught him and dragged him below. Tangled among the boughs with his wastebox, the desperate driver fought with all his strength, and in a little while felt the wastebox bearing him up and on once more. He was now in a narrow, straight chute, at the lower end of which the river made a short bend to the left, and away from the railroad track. Degan saw the curve and hoped that he might be thrown upon the bank at the bend, and the next instant the box was driven hard against a huge rock and went to pieces.

When Degan regained consciousness he was lying full length upon the flat top of the rock against which his life-preserver had been wrecked. The gray dawn was upon the river, that was already settling back to its normal bed. His clothing was torn, his hands bleeding, his bones ached with the chill of the morning. One of his legs was broken, and the pain of it made him feel faint. The river was falling rapidly. If he could walk at all he could walk ashore without getting water in his trousers pocket. The sun came up and dried his overclothes and warmed the rock upon which he lay.

Presently he heard a locomotive screaming down the canyon, and when she came round the curve he flagged her. Behind the engine was a wrecking train, coming up from the junction to find and fish the Rockaway out of the river.

The crew were greatly rejoiced to find Degan. They bore him tenderly to the waycar and carried him to the company's hospital at Salida, and there it was he told the story of the Roubideau wreck.

HOW TO MAKE LIFE WORTH LIVING

PostDispatch Readers Give Comfort and Advice to One "Disappointed in Love."

Get a Hobby.

To Disappointed in Love:

I have had your experience. I have loved and lost. I was for a time utterly crushed; had no appetite, did not care to live. Then a friend advised me to take up a hobby—raising flowers or pets or painting—anything to change my thoughts. I bought a camera. I soon became a picture fiend, bought every book I could find on that subject, sat up some nights until 1 o'clock finishing my work, soon became an expert photographer, joined amateur societies, threw my whole heart and soul into my work, never for a moment allowed my mind to dwell on past misery. Result, three years have now passed and although the wound has not quite healed and perhaps never will, yet with my beloved hobby I can say that I am fairly happy.

Be Womanly

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My advice to the one who signs herself "Disappointed in Love" is, be sensible, be womanly, thus proving that woman and weakness are not synonymous.

Has a species of love fallen into your life when even a thought of marriage could not be tolerated? If so why call it a disappointment or even a sorrow? Has it proved to be of the pure, uplifting kind? If this is the case why grieve over the inevitable?

A love that tends to ennoble us cannot fail to bring us happiness after that "nameless longing" has passed away. Be patient and happiness will be yours once more. ONE WHO KNOWS.

St. Louis.

A Sympathetic Sister.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I, too, have keenly suffered and undergone the sad blow such as you have experienced. Life to me seems all the more worthy of living after my experience. Why? Because love is only a delusion for the time being, for if it were not could we continually endure the pangs which at the time makes life almost unendurable? It soon passes away; that love, or, in other words, fascination, is really of short duration. Taking life as it is, there are many more worthy things to occupy our minds than to waste ourselves upon a man who has proven to be false.

Let not the common accidents of your existence cause you worry or agitation. Life is too short.

A WEBSTER GROVES DISAPPOINTED.

Better to Have Loved and Lost.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to make a few remarks through your valuable paper on an article which I had the misfortune to read in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch and signed "Lorena Leroy."

The article is a great injustice to men, but I don't believe there will be many to heed such advice as put forth by its writer.

Judging from the way her letter read, she believes every man to be nothing but a life-wrecking being, not fit for this earth.

The writer then goes on to say that "these girls who have been disappointed in love make me tired." Ah! one cannot realize how heavenly true love is unless they have experienced that sensation. The old adage: "'Tis better to have loved and lost, than never to have loved at all," will always remain true.

Miss Lorena evidently is either too young to understand love in its true light, or she has herself been disappointed and realizes that her chances for making a "catch" are slowly ebbing away. At any rate, it is dollars to doughnuts she will never have the arms of a loving husband entwined about her. She must be content with loving her St. Bernard dog, Maltese cat and her vial of spirits of camphor.

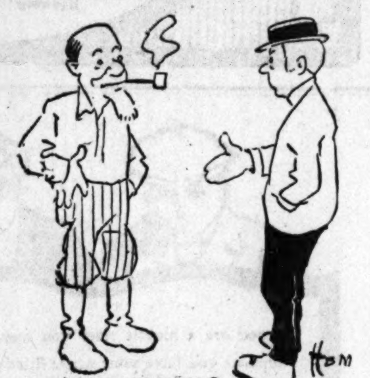
JOHN BROWN'S FAME.

Probably no man in American history, save presidents and conquering generals, is more widely known than John Brown of Ossawatomie, of whom Edmund Clarence Stedman wrote a memorable ballad, and to whom Ralph Waldo Emerson referred as "a sublime fatanic;" Brown of the phenomenal fight at Harper's Ferry, Brown of the Charlestown scaffold, Brown of the Civil war song:

> John Brown's body lies a-moldering in the grave,
> But his soul is marching on.

Yet a St. Louisan tells me that last week he encountered a man of more than middle age, a citizen of a state that has furnished two Presidents, a vice-president, a commander-in-chief in the field and many other notables, who never heard of John Brown.



HoM
WHAT WAS MR BROWN TRIED FOR?

A newspaper dispatch conveyed the erroneous information that William A. Martin, the only surviving juror of the John Brown trial, was living in a little town in Illinois. The St. Louisan, having occasion to visit that town, and being a John Brown enthusiast, determined to call upon Juror Martin and talk over the famous trial. He stopped at the village hostelry and after dinner made inquiries as to the location of Mr. Martin's house.

"Is he a young man?" asked the landlord.

"Oh! no," was the reply; "he must be 70 or 80, for he was on the jury that convicted John Brown at Charlestown, Va., in 1859."

"Ah!" remarked the wife of the landlord, "I guess you're here to see about getting him a pension?"

The landlord quickly "called down" his better half by saying to her:

"Now, you don't know; maybe Brown wasn't guilty."

To the St. Louisan he said: "Fact is, I'm a little hazy on the case. Don't believe I'm familiar with it. What was Mr. Brown tried for?"

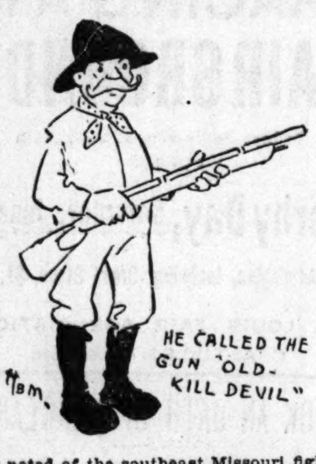
I'm a bold and bad bushwhacker,
  And I have my little whack;
With a plug of black tobacker
  And a pound or two of tack,
I can tackle half an army,
  For I just eliminate
Those who try to take or harm me—
  It's a way they have I hate.

With a pistol in my breeches
  And a rifle on my back
I career o'er dunes and ditches,
  Oh, I shoot and shout and sack!
For I have a way about me
  That the other fellows hate,
And whene'er they think to rout me,
  Why, I just eliminate.

SAM HILDEBRAND'S WAY.

While discussing the Youngers and the Jameses, it is just as well to remember that they were not the only dangerous men in the dugout. There were others, along in the '60s. Missouri woods were full of men who could hit a bull'seye or a human target 10 times out of 10. Only a few of them, however, kept on shooting long enough after the war to ensure lasting reputations.

Passing through Pinckneyville, Ill., a few days ago, I was reminded of the fact that in that town, in 1877, perished Sam Hildebrand, the Big river bushwhacker, the most noted of the southeast Missouri fighters during the war and after.



HE CALLED THE GUN "OLD-KILL DEVIL"
HoM.

Sam was a character. In his day he killed more than a hundred men. He used to carry a rifle which he called "Old Kill-Devil," because, as he said, he had killed so many devils with it. Sam also carried a pocketknife with which he would cut a notch in the stock of "Old Kill-Devil" every time he killed a man with the gun. When he lost the weapon in Big river, St. Francois County, during a hotfoot escape from a troop of Federal cavalry toward the close of the war, there were 87 notches in the stock.

But it must not be imagined that these 87 notches include Sam Hildebrand's entire output. He also carried a pistol or two of generous size, and at close range, dashing through Federal camps which he had surprised, or closing in upon private enemies whom he had sworn to slay, he frequently used the pistols. As it is a well-known fact down in southeast Missouri that Sam never missed, it may be taken for granted that he added quite a cosy number of homicides to his record by means of the pistols.

Sam Hildebrand was about as picturesque a bushwhacker as ever picked off a farmer at long range or cut a throat. He was absolutely illiterate and knew no more of the real merits of the war than a raccoon knows of Christian Science. But when a company of Federal Home Guards burned his mother's homestead over her head, shot to death his little brother as he rode away down the high road, and then went to a lead mine where Bonne Terre is now located, called an older brother out of a shaft and shot him, Sam collected himself and a few chosen spirits in a cave on Big river and vowed vengeance in realistic dime novel style. Sam, however, meant it. He swore he would kill every man in the Home Guards. In order to further his design and make his killings legal, so far as war is legal, he joined the army.

During the war Sam very nearly carried out his threat. Sam killed most of the Home Guards, and, incidentally, many others. The others happened to come in his way, trying to collect the rewards offered by the state and national governments for Sam, dead or alive, and he was brought to the painful necessity of eliminating them. After awhile Sam got so that he delighted in the process of elimination and would rather eliminate than eat.

But when the war was over Sam Hildebrand's vengeance was satiated. He concludes to let the remaining Home Guards live if they would let him live, possibly on the theory that the extra men he had killed were sufficient to make up for the few Home Guards that had escaped him.

The rewards, however, were still offered. Sam went back to his family and began putting in a crop of corn. He was attacked and compelled to take to the woods. For 11 years he was chased by soldiers, private and public detectives and individual citizens who thought to win a little reward on the side, but, until he thoughtlessly imbibed too much liquor in Pinckneyville one night, he was immune.

Hildebrand, like Jesse James, was reported dead many times. He always showed up—until after the Pinckneyville incident. Sam was in a saloon. A man insulted him and he forgot his incog.

"Do you know who you're talking too?" indignantly demanded the former eliminator.

"No, and I don't give a —— copper cent."

"I'm Sam Hildebrand."

This admission was unwise, for the stranger immediately plunged a knife into him; and, after the body was brought back to Missouri and identified, he tried to collect the reward.

Sam Hildebrand was one of the Missouri war characters who should not be left out when the book of blood—the volume of vengeance—is sent to press.

TWO DASHES.

"Here's a little thing I have just dashed
  off"—
The Poet began;
But the Editor Man
With one fell blow
Did lay him low.

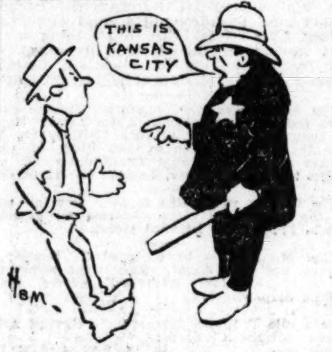
Then the Editor Man his burden bore
Around to the undertaker's store;
And he said, said he,
In his fiendish glee:
"Here's a little thing I have just dashed
  off!"

THE WRONG TRAIN.

In one of the St. Louis clubhouses the story is breathed softly. It would be perilous to life and limb to tell it aloud. The victim is pugnacious and forbids it. But it is a fairly good story, nevertheless.

He lives in a suburban town and goes home by steam railroad every evening. Late one evening last week he left a "stag" party and went to Union Station to catch his train for home. He got aboard at 10 o'clock and immediately fell fast asleep.

It is nothing unusual for the young man to fall asleep on the train. The conductors and brakemen all know him. They awaken him at his home station.



But this particular night he slept quite soundly. When he got off the train he felt as if he had overslept. But his latest recollection was of having started to board a train about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. This was before he met the "stags." Therefore, he was not surprised to see that it was broad daylight.

The street on which he found himself was strangely unfamiliar. He had thought that he knew St. Louis and its suburbs well, but here was a locality that puzzled him.

"St. Louis is a big city, though," he remarked to himself. "Still, it's funny that I don't know where I am. I'll ask that policeman.

The policeman told the young man that he did not propose to be made a guy of for any yap who thought himself smart.

"I just asked you a civil question," said the young man. "I just asked you the way to the corner of Olive street and Jefferson avenue."

"Yes, and you know there's no such streets in this town," replied the offended copper.

"Look here," said the St. Louisan. "How long have you been on the force? I'll have to ask my friend Harry Hawes if he is in the habit of putting on men who don't know the streets of St. Louis."

"What's St. Louis got to do with it, young man?" retorted the policeman. "You're in Kansas City now, and if you don't get a move on you I'll run you in for a lunatic."

Three thousand fans were pleasantly surprised at the article of ball furnished them at League Park Tuesday afternoon. Three thousand fans were incidentally disappointed to see the tribe of Delehanty carry off the game.

The faithful were not looking for a pitchers' battle between Sudhoff and Donahue. While local rooters have the utmost respect for the twirling talents of the blond St. Louisan, they did not expect a Harper-Mathewson-Hahn display from him. But Willie went in and pitched a better game than the New York phenom did at Pittsburg or the Cincinnati German did on his own ashpile. For seven innings he allowed the sluggers from Slumberville but three little hits. One of them was immediately preceded by a gift and netted a lucky run. Two additional safe ones came in the last two innings. The final pair were harmless, but the pair in the awful eighth comprised a terrific four-base swat by Capt. Del right on the heels of Roy Thomas' single. As the Donovanites gathered together during the entire nine innings the sum total of one run, this trio of tallies was sufficient to let victory perch on the Philadelphia bandwagon.

"Small William" pitched good enough ball to win several ordinary games. But he was up against a surprising proposition Tuesday in Frank Donahue. Donahue once had something of a reputation hereabouts as a box performer. But since he drifted with "Klondike Bill" Douglas and others to Quakerdom the fans have heard not so much about his firing-line cleverness. In fact, some of them had come to class him in the "has-been" set. As the Cardinals had trounced Collegian White on Monday, the rooters figured that they would put the red-crowned ex-St. Louisan out of business in a few innings. But when the game was over he was still in business and seemed to be prospering. Not until the ninth did our own contingent chase a man over the pan. In almost every essay at the plate St. Louis got a runner on the cushions, but the necessary bingle to drive him o'er the rubber was ne'er forthcoming.

The finish was exciting. St. Louis strove vigorously to acquire its fifth straight, but at the crucial moment Umpire Cunningham, who had been lenient to the Quakers throughout, gave them a little extra help and the hopes of the faithful were dragged in the mud. Wallace, first up, singled. So did Kruger. Ryan forced the German. Then Nichols, batting for Sudhoff, stepped up. With one strike and three balls, Donohue pitched a wide one. Nichols started for the bag, but Cunningham yelled "strike." That put a crimp in the red-legged rally. If the catcher had been given what was coming to him the bases would have been filled, with only one out. As it was, Nichols forced Ryan, Wallace scoring on the play, and then Burkett poked a fly at Roy Thomas.

George Davis, the New York leader, is a wise man as well as a high-class shortstop. He admitted while in St. Louis that he expected the Pirates to give his outfit a rub for top-notch honors. The rub has "came." By taking two straights from the Freedmanites, Fred Clarke's team (always including our own Jack O'Connor) has come within one point of tying the Giants for first place.

The same teams meet again Wednesday afternoon, and if the Davis aggregation does not corral this game they will have a mighty difficult time getting back into the proud position they have held for several weeks.

Even more astonishing than the dual defeat of New York at Pittsburg was the second consecutive victory of Boston over Cincinnati Tuesday. Selee's performers, who played like a lot of farm hands in St. Louis, knocked the sensational "Noodles" Hahn off the rubber in two innings Tuesday.

Brooklyn has taken a brace and by winning their last three games the Hanlonites have climbed to fourth place, pushing the Phillies into division No. 2. The Donovanites take on the Brooklyns after finishing with their present guests. They are scheduled to play in St. Louis Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Buelow seems to have proved a hoodoo to the Giants. When Sammy Strang was playing third and Mr. Nelson was covering second the team won regularly. When the team came west, Buelow, who had been in the hospital, reappeared, Strang was sent to second. Nelson was left at home and Buelow stationed at sack No. 3. Since then Mathewson does not seem able to win. Now Manager Davis has benched the little third baseman, sent Strang back to third and stationed Suboutfielder Bernard at second.

Jack Powell will oppose the Quakers in the box Wednesday afternoon. Orth or young Townsend will twirl for Philadelphia. The game will be called at 3:45 o'clock. Secretary Heilbroner announces that hereafter all week-day games will be called at that hour in response to requests from many of the patrons, who say that 3:30 is too early for them to reach the park conveniently.

LEASES TRAC KFOR TEN YEARS.

California Jockey Club Renews Its Hold on Emeryville.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 12.—The California Jockey Club has renewed its lease on the Emeryville race track for 10 years, with an option to extend the lease seven years longer if desired.

The lease is from Mrs. Margaret Mee of San Francisco to President Thomas H. Williams and Secretary R. B. Milroy.

It is agreed that a monthly rental of $500 shall be paid in advance. It is further stipulated that the California Jockey Club may assign the property to the Mercantile Trust Co., to raise $400,000 with which to pay the San Francisco Jockey Club for the Ingleside and Tanforan tracks. The purchase price was $600,000.

In the event of racing being prohibited by the state Legislature it is agreed that the California Jockey Club may conduct on the premises any other forms of amusement it may see fit. The buildings are to be insured at between $60,000 and $80,000.

Fifth Race—Horseshoe Tobacco, Hungarian, Ida Carbrey.

Sixth Race—Clay Poynter, Kisme, Eda Riley.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAIR GROUNDS, June 12.—The changes in the condition of the track from fast to slow and from heavy to sticky during the past four days, have upset the calculations of the handicappers.

Saturday the dopesters figured the horses for a fast track. It commenced raining in the morning and continued all day. As a result, the selections made in the morning were of little account, as the fast track horses were given the preference.

Sunday night the handicappers thought that the hot sun of Sunday and Monday morning would dry out the track enough to make it lumpy. They were surprised when they reached the track to find it heavy and sticky. It was the kind of going only big, strong horses could negotiate and they were overlooked altogether by the makers of form.

The track Tuesday was the most uncertain of all. It was lumpy and cuppy. To pick winners in going of this kind is like finding needles in a haystack.

To make it more difficult for the handicapper, the poorest horses at the track were entered in the six races. Such animals never run two races alike, so it is a rather difficult task landing on them when they run their best races.

The handicapper should get back into form now as the track is fast and Dr. Hyatt says that rain is far away. However, the extreme heat is liable to upset calculations. Old stiff-legged nags that can't run a mile in 1:50 when the weather is cool will thaw out under the hot sun and reel off the circuit close to record time. There is always something to make the game uncertain.

Two Good Races Are on the Bills.

With the exception of two races the card offered for today is a very poor one. Dogs hold forth in the first, second, fifth and sixth races.

Just why Mr. Maginn, the maker of the program, is so friendly to the canines is not known, except that he spent much of his time among them in the days of the Sportsman's Park merry-go-round. He invariably manages to give the beagles chances to win several of the purses.

The game here is so inviting that seven new hounds will make their appearance in the first contest and allow Judge Brady to glance over them. It is said that Judge Brady is gaining such wide experience out here that the St. Louis Kennel Club will make him an offer to officiate at its show after the racing season is at an end.

Mr. Rose is tired of the jumping races and had decided to return to the flat. He is one of a field of 15 that will give Starter Bruen trouble in his initial effort.

It is useless to glance into the dopebook in an effort to pick the winner. A better scheme would be to shut your eyes and stick a pin in the entry sheet. The horse whose name comes in contact with the point of the pin will be the lucky one.

As hard as it appears to be, we will make an effort to select the winner. Julietta B has run a couple of fair races and is in at a nice weight. If she can hold her form at all she ought to beat Around Again, although the latter will prove troublesome. Fourth Ward used to be a pretty fair sort of a skate. Dan Honig made several killings with that nag. If he is any account at all now he ought to be in the money.

Another field of the cheapest sort of platers will go to the post in the second race, which is a selling affair at one mile.

Kid McCoy's only start was a good one, but it was on a heavy track. If his legs are sound he ought to win on his last race.

Ice and Hardly will make him know he has been to the races.

Good Starters in the Third.

The betters will have much trouble selecting a choice in the third race, as some of the very best sprinters at the track will meet in a six-furlong handicap. Mr. Maginn has weighted the horses so well that he has brought them together on almost even terms.

It looks like it is asking too much of Maude Gonne to pack 115 pounds and beat such clever sprinters as Frank Bell, Hilee and Hi-Noc-ker.

Hilu would prefer a longer route. His race with Duelist showed this. Frank Bell, whose sprinting abilities are known throughout the West, is in at a nice weight and with an even break in racing luck he should win. Hi-Koc-Ker is also in good and he will be knocking at the door when the finish is made.

Another choice field will sport silk in the fourth event. Five horses, including Hottentot, the winner of the Club Members' Handicap, will compete in the handicap, which is at one and one-sixteenth miles.

The talent will no doubt select Chappaqua to deliver the goods, as his recent races have been good.

While Chappaqua looks like he is in a nice spot he will not get the purse until he gets through beating Propellor. This youngster is much improved, and is in with a feather on his back. Kit Chinn and his party will play him to win, and it will be no surprise if they were lined up behind the bookmakers' boxes after the race.

Horseshoe Tobacco is in with a very bad lot in the fifth race, and if his underpinning remains good on the hard track he will annex the purse. He will have most to fear from Hungarian, a newcomer, and Ida Carbrey.

Clay Pointer and Kisme will fight it out for the sixth race. Rushfields will have many admirers, but he doesn't like the hard track any too well.

TWO GAMES SATURDAY

POST - DISPATCH PAROCHIAL LEAGUE FINALS UNDER WAY.

ACTIVITY IN BOTH LEAGUES

Preliminaries for Public School Finals Will Be Played Off Rapidly, Commencing Early Next Week.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULES IN POST-DISPATCH LEAGUES.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL LEAGUE.

Holy Name vs. Visitation.
St. Leo vs. St. Rose.

PUBLIC SCHOOL LEAGUE.

Irving vs. Dozier.

POSTPONED.

Monroe vs. Sherman.
Lincoln vs. Madison.

Wednesday afternoon the Visitation and the St. Rose teams will play at Pastime Park.

Captains of Parochial League teams which play in the finals are requested to report to Mr. Breen of the league committee, to receive instructions as to the grounds on which the championship contests are to be played.

It is desired to have these take place on the St. Louis University campus, Handlan's Park, Grand and Laclede avenues. The grounds are excellently kept and the arrangement should be a great improvement over the corner lot system.

Saturday two games will be played in this league and captains will report to Mr. Breen to decide which team shall play in the morning.

A full report of all championship games in both leagues will be made in the future. All teams will be compelled to submit a list of players and the lineup, with substitutes, will have to be adhered to for the remainder of the season. Photographs of all the teams will be taken and the men can be identified from these, so that any charge of "ringerism" can be readily run down with the assistance of the school principal.

If possible it is desired to use the High School ball grounds for championship games in the Public School League. The High School committee has given its consent to the use of the diamond, and as soon as postponed games have been played off a meeting of all the captains in this league will be called to arrange for morning and afternoon contests, as in the Parochial League.

Only five teams will be in the finals and only two games a day can be played. This will admit of the use of one grounds for all of the battles.

The public schools close Friday and each day next week an endeavor will be made to play two games, in order to have the closing schedule completed by June 22. In this case, the winners, instead of the mere leaders in the leagues, can compete in the Hibernian games, June 23.

Watch the Post-Dispatch, boys. There will be plenty of league news during the race for the medals.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY BRIEFLY TOLD.

Dute Cabanne wants another chance for the Mermod shooting trophy, and has challenged Dr. J. W. Smith to shoot under the conditions governing contests for that trophy.

Garry Hermann has been withdrawn from the American Derby. The owner of the horse, S. S. Brown, states that his horse is in bad condition, and will be out of it for three months.

McGovern is through fighting for the next four months. Sam Harris, manager of the doughty "pug," says he thinks his protege has earned a vacation.

The basket ball game between the High School girls' team and the Webster Groves High School five will be contested Saturday at the old Pastime gymnasium.

St. Louis University and Christian Brothers' College baseball teams will battle for the second time Saturday probably at Handlan Park.

TOOK AN OATH OF VENGEANCE

Widow of Slain Moonshiner Swore to Rear Her Boys to Avenge Their Father.

Sepcial to the Post-Dispatch.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., June 12.—The widow of Andrew Cox, the mountaineer moonshiner, killed at Corbin, took a solemn oath today while her husband's body was being lowered into the grave, to rear her boys for the single purpose of wiping out the Wilder and Branham families.

If the woman keeps her word, and it is feared she will, it means that a feud will be started that may endure for several generations.

The funerals of Deputy Sheriff Will Branham and Chief of Police Silas Wilder, who were shot to death by the mountaineer, also took place today. Branham killed Cox, after he had been mortally wounded by the moonshiner. The families of the three dead men have numerous kinsmen and the feeling is bitter and deep on all sides.

ALABAMA'S GOVERNOR DEAD.

After a Long Illness, Gov. Samford Passed Away at Tuscaloosa.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., June 12.—After an extended illness, due to heart disease, William J. Samford, governor of Alabama, died here last night.

Gov. Samford has been in Tuscaloosa several weeks, having gone there to attend a meeting of the trustees of the State University. He had been ill since before his inauguration as governor, but it was believed that immediate danger of death was passed. While in Tuscaloosa, however, his illness returned with renewed violence and he became so dangerously sick that the physicians feared to remove him to Montgomery.

Gov. Samford was 56 years of age and was a native of Alabama. He had served in the State Senate and in Congress, was a member of the constitutional convention of 1875 and had held other important public offices. He was elected governor in August of last year and was inaugurated Dec. 1 last. Hon. W. D. Jelks, president of the State Senate, will succeed him as governor.

CROP NEWS FAVORABLE

WHEAT, ON BEARISH NEWS, SUFFERS FURTHER LOSSES.

CORN FUTURES ALSO WEAK

Following the Decline in Wheat Crop Positions, Corn and Oats Futures Also Declined.

Favorable crop reports from important sections of the wheat belt caused an easier tone in the wheat market.

Corn and oats futures in sympathy with the decline in the fine grain, sold lower.

Wheat and flour clearances today were 381,000 bu, corn 292,856 bu and oats 62,128 bu.

July wheat closed ½c down for the day and Sept. unchanged from the previous closing price. July corn closed ⅜c below the previous close and Sept. ⅝c down for the day. July oats closed ⅛@¼c down and Sept. ⅛@⅜c down.

An unexpectedly strong opening in the Liverpool market caused a higher range in American wheat markets in the early part of today's session. Liverpool closed ¼d higher than the previous closing price.

Good rains throughout the Northwest and in Kansas and Nebraska proved a very bearish item, and after early gains heavy profit taking set in. Frightened longs and confident bears sold the July future off 1c before a rally occurred.

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis today were 20,800 bu, compared with 17,738 bu the corresponding day last year. Of these, 15 cars were local, compared with 217 sacks and 23 cars the corresponding day last year.

July wheat opened ¼c up at 67⅝c, and then, without a check, sold down to 66⅝c, making a new low point for this future. At 66⅝c a rally set in, there was scattered short covering and the July future advanced to 66⅞c and then fell to 66⅝c.

September opened ⅜c advance at 66⅛c, and then sold 66⅜c, 66⅜@66½c, 66⅛c, 66¼c, 66⅛@66¼c, 65¼c, 66c, 65⅞@66c, 65⅞c, 65⅝c, and again at 65⅞c.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth today were 287 cars as compared with 484 cars same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at primary points today were 550,146 bu, as compared with 655,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 382,507 bu, compared with 160,000 bu same date last year.

Corn Follows Wheat Down.

At the opening 41⅛c was bid for July corn, but none sold at that figure, and later wheat growing very heavy, corn crop positions were offered down in sympathy.

July corn sold at 40⅝c, 40⅜c, 40⅜@40⅝c and again at 40⅜c.

Sept., after 42½c had been bid, sold at 42⅛c.

Receipts of corn at St. Louis today were 28,800 bu, compared with 77,995 bu the corresponding day last year. Of these 9 cars were local, compared with 478 sacks and 50 cars the corresponding day last year.

Liverpool closed ⅛d down for corn.

Receipts of corn at primary points today were 557,100 bu, as compared with 878,000 bu same date last year.

Shipments, 844,382 bu, compared with 452,000 bu same date last year.

Oats Crop Positions Heavy.

Oats futures were heavy and until late in the day little trading was done.

July was offered at 27⅛c, but no sales were recorded. September sold at 26⅛c, 26c and at 25⅞c.

Receipts of oats at St. Louis today were 16,800 bu, compared with the same amount the corresponding day last year. Of these 9 cars were local, compared with 14 cars the corresponding day last year.

Early Cotton Market Strong.

An advance of 2 to 6 points in the Liverpool cotton market was responsible for a steady opening in the New York market this morning.

At New York July opened 1 point down, Aug. unchanged, Sept., Oct. and Nov. unchanged and Dec. 2 points below the previous closing price.

After initial changes there was some heavy short covering and a sharp advance resulted.

The first line quotations in each class is calculated to represent the full range from common to extra. Dealers, however, often classify superlative bunches (all tops) for buyers, which sometimes sell considerably above the highest quotations. The second line of quotations signifies the bulk of sales and generally represents the various classes as they are sold on the commission market, more or less mixed.

STOCKYARD NOTES.

The season of wholesale range horse dispersals was begun this afternoon at 1 o'clock by the St. Louis Range Horse Co., representing the firm of Campbell & Reid Western Sale Stables Co. The quantity was very small by comparison with last year's sales of the same class of stuff.

Only eight carloads were before the buyers, embracing from plain to very good quality, but none were extra. Some had bone, but lacked flesh, and all showed the effect of long shipment. The trading started off slowly, as if feeling its way, but after the first bunch changed hands the balance sold on a fairly active basis, but bids were made rather cautiously, notwithstanding that scores of buyers were present. There has been an advance in range horse values since last season and it has had the effect of making the handlers timid. They were anxious to buy, and yet seemed rather disposed to wait and see how the first installment will take in the country districts.

A select lot of chunks, some very smooth, the lot averaging 1050 pounds, brought $38.50.

The early sales showed an advance in values over last season on all but the commonest end; still the values were not as high as had been anticipated by the selling interests, nor as high as warranted by the big rise in range horse values right on the ranches. It was, however, a good sale for the number available, and the fact that they were not in the best possible condition.

Inexperienced people who essay to fill contracts for American cavalry horses generally have a big job on their hands, and of late many of these contracts are being placed with unfledged parties because regular professional dealers are becoming loth to accept the responsibility of securing the animals, under the present strict provisions of the government and with the country supplies so scarce. Some time ago a contract was let for 420 head for the new cavalry post at Fort Meade, S. D., but it is reported that although the time has already once been extended, only 130 head have thus far been accepted. It will, therefore, be necessary to further prolong the time.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The steady tone of the Liverpool cables helped the wheat market at the opening today. July opened ⅛@⅜c higher at 71⅜@71½c, on a buying demand, resulting from an impression that bottom prices had been reached. The buyers were astonished, however, at the quantities of grain put out to them largely on the favorable weather and within 20 minutes the market declined to 71c. There was a temporary recovery of ⅛c on covering by pit shorts, and July sold down to 70⅛c, reacting again to 70⅛@70⅜c. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 287 cars, against 420 last week and 484 a year ago. Local receipts were 72 cars, none of contract grade.

Corn was dull, but a fair local demand existed early in the session. July opened a shade lower on favorable weather at 42⅜@42⅞c and on covering by shorts advanced to 43@43⅛c, reacting to the opening figure on liberal offerings. Local receipts were 219 cars, 3 of contract grade.

Oats were moderately active and fairly steady. Selling of July was the feature of the trading. July opened ⅛c higher at 27⅝c and declined to 27⅛@27⅜c. Local receipts were 108 cars.

Better prices for hogs induced an improvement in provisions. There was a good demand from commission houses, and July pork opened 12½c up at $14.90. Under liberal offerings it declined 5c. July lard opened 5c higher at $8.60. July ribs were not quoted.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Rumors of peace in South Africa again caused higher prices in London today and was an influence here at the opening. Missouri Pacific and Pennsylvania were features, 5000 shares of the former selling at 122½ to 123, compared with 121 last night, and 3000 shares of the latter selling at 151⅛ to 151¾, compared with 151 last night. Amalgamated Copper, St. Paul, Sugar, St. Louis Southwestern preferred, and Denver & Rio Grande preferred were up about a point.

Pennsylvania assumed the leadership of the market, and on the absorption of thousands of shares the stock worked up to 153½. The buoyancy of this property was without a beneficial effect on other active stocks, moderate offerings causing sharp relapses in Atchison, Louisville, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and United States Steel. There were substantial gains in some minor railroads and specialties, and the general market felt more acutely than of late the absence of inside support. The traction stocks moved up a point or more before noon, and American Cotton Oil suddenly jumped 2⅜, Denver & Rio Grande preferred gained 2½ and Colorado Fuel 3¼ altogether. Bonds were dull and irregular.

Spasmodic advances in various parts of the list did not enliven the general trading, business contracting greatly. Profit-taking lowered Missouri Pacific to 122, but it subsequently brought 123½. The Denver & Rio Grande stocks rose 1¼ for the common and 1⅜ for the preferred. Sugar broke to ⅞ under yesterday's close, got back to above parity and took the down grade again. American Car common rose 1⅛, the preferred 1¼, Rock Island 2½, Pacific Coast second preferred 2, Colorado Fuel 16 and B. & O. a point. On the other hand Tennessee Coal and the Linseed issues were 1@2 points off. Pennsylvania continued upward, touching a level 1½ above last night on the reported acquisition of the Pennsylvania Steel Co., and Erie common and Reading first preferred made good gains. Lead advanced 1¼ and the preferred 4, while Amalgamated Copper lost about 2 points. At 11 o'clock speculation was feverish and prices were moving irregularly.

UNLAWFUL RATE OF SPEED.

Blamed by Deputy Coroner for Street Car Victim's Death.

At the inquest on the death of Gottlieb Zettler, who was killed by a Broadway car in Baden June 10, Deputy Coroner Fitzsimmons Wednesday found that the car which killed Zettler was running at too high a rate of speed.

He accordingly rendered a verdict of "death due to injuries received by being struck by a street car running at an unlawful rate of speed, and the fender of which failed to work properly."

"How fast were you running?" Motorman Oscar Wieland was asked.

"About eight miles an hour," was the answer.

"How far back did you have your handle?"

"To the ninth notch."

From his knowledge of the mechanism of a trolley car and from the statements of persons who saw the car approaching at what seemed to be full speed, Mr. Fitzsimmons decided that the motorman had understated the rate of speed of his car.

HUGH BRENNAN'S WILL FILED.

Mrs. Pickel Gets Five-Sixths and Others Remainder of Estate.

According to the will of the late Hugh Brennan, filed for probate Wednesday, one of the daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Pickel, wife of William Pickel of St. Louis will receive five-sixths of the estate of the deceased, the remaining one-sixth going to the other daughter, Mrs. Margaret Doherty, wife of John A. Doherty of Chicago.

The will then provides that in case either of the daughters shall contest the will, she shall lose her portion of the estate and the daughter that does not contest shall receive all of it.

The witnesses to the will are Daniel and John Dillon. The estate is said to be large.

DEXTER, Kan., June 12.—Assistant State Bank Examiner Davis unexpectedly started to check up the affairs of the State Bank of Dexter Monday. Yesterday when he went to the bank he found J. H. Watkins, cashier of the bank, dead on the floor. He had blown out his brains. The examiner has found a shortage that will exceed $3000 in the bank's cash.

HELD FOR MURDER

MRS. STALLION, FATHER AND BROTHERS BOUND OVER.

SYMPATHY FOR THE WOMAN

Her Twin Babies May Secure Her Release From Jail, but Under Close Guard.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AURORA, Mo., June 12.—Mrs. John Stallion, Thomas Crabtree, her father, and William and John Crabtree, her brothers, were held for the Stone County grandjury without bond. They are charged with complicity in the murder of Alice Stallion, the stepdaughter of Mrs. Stallion.

The preliminary trial was begun at Cape Fair, the scene of the crime, but by agreement among the attorneys the court adjourned to Galena, where the pleading before the jury was finished. The grandjury will not meet until next October. In the meantime the prisoners must remain in jail.

It is possible that an exception may be made in the case of Mrs. Stallion. The attitude of hostility toward the woman has changed, and the sentiment is now more one of pity. Mrs. Stallion is the mother of twin babies that require her care, and a movement is on foot to secure her release from the close confinement of a prison cell, but under the care of a special guard.

It is charged that Alice Stallion was murdered by some or all of the defendants and her body thrown into a small stream where it was afterward found. At the trial the evidence of John Yocum, the sweetheart of the dead girl, seriously affected the case of the defendants.

REVENUE INCREASES $95,000

Total Assessed Valuation of City Property is $5,000,000 Greater Than in 1900.

An increase of not less than $5,000,000 in the taxable real estate values of St. Louis, as compared with 1900, will be shown by the summary now being prepared by Assessor O'Brien for the information of the committees of the House and Council, who are making up the appropriation bill.

At the present rate of taxation, $1.90 on the $100, the increase in revenue from an increase of $5,000,000 in valuation would amount to $95,000.

No estimate of the value of personal property has yet been made out by Mr. O'Brien, who is devoting his attention especially to equalizing and in some cases increasing the valuations of real estate.

The assessor's report will show an increase of nearly 3000 in the number of lots taxed. This is due to the opening of city lots in numerous tracts which were heretofore counted as acreage and were used for grazing and gardening.

The total number of city lots taxed last year was 112,892. This year it will exceed 115,000.

DEATH PREFERRED TO ARREST

John Mitchell of East St. Louis Cut His Throat as Policemen Entered His Home.

Preferring death to arrest, John Mitchell of East St. Louis cut his throat while Policemen Enright and Meehan were entering his home at 1024 Division street Wednesday morning.

He severed the jugular vein and died instantly.

The two policemen had been called by neighbors to arrest Mitchell for disturbing the peace of his family by threats and abuse.

When the officers reached the house the domestic battle was still raging.

As he saw the policemen Mitchell seized his razor and cut his throat in their presence.

Before they could reach his side he was dead.

Mitchell was 35 years old.

MAYOR'S BILLS WERE PASSED.

Council Takes Action on Lighting and Water Inspection Bills.

The Council Tuesday night passed the municipal lighting plant bill and the bill for the employment of expert engineers to investigate the city's water supply. Both measures originated with Mayor Wells.

The Council voted to reject the bid of the Westliche Post for the city printing, holding the price charged, 8 cents per line, excessive. Another letting for the city printing in German will be held, and in the meantime the Westliche Post, holding the present contract, will continue to publish the official journals at 8 cents a line, the price at which it secured last year's contract.

Bills for licensing runners for mercantile houses and for increasing the force of City Hall janitors from nine to 12 were passed. A favorable report was made on the bill for the leasing of a new site on Ninth street for engine company No. 6.

FRANK MANNING INJURED BY A BLANK CARTRIDGE.

PLAYED WITH A STRANGE BOY

Little William Mason Had a Pistol and With It Young Manning, Who Met Him. Was Shot.

Frank Manning, aged 10 years, of 221 North Leffingwell avenue, may partially lose his sight as a result of powder burns received from a blank cartridge pistol in the hands of William Mason, also 10 years old, of 2838 Olive street, Monday afternoon.

William started out for a walk and met Frank at Twenty-eighth and Locust streets. They had never seen each other before, but began to play.

"I noticed the pistol in the boy's hands and I warned Frank not to play with him," said Mrs. Manning to the Post-Dispatch. "But the warning was not heeded and he and the strange boy darted down the street.

"A few minutes later I heard the explosion of a cartridge and Frank screamed. I ran to him and learned that his face had been burned with powder. He said the strange boy had put the pistol to his face while they were playing and had fired.

"I did not think the injuries were serious then, but Monday night Frank's eyes swelled so that I called a physician. He found that they were seriously inflamed. Frank could not see Tuesday, but he says he can see faint outlines of objects today. His face and eyes are filled with burnt powder grains."

Mrs. Mason, upon being informed of the accident, took the pistol from her son. It shoots a 32-caliber blank cartridge. He played with it on the streets for several weeks before the accident, the neighbors say.

GIVEN BY THE KING'S HAND

Medals Bestowed Upon 3000 British Soldiers.

MEN WHO FOUGHT THE BOERS

A LONG PROCESSION LED BY LITTLE LORD ROBERTS.

Crowd of Generals Decorated, Among Whom Were Buller, Hamilton and a Host of Stars of Lesser Brilliancy.

LONDON, June 12.—London seldom had a finer spectacle than was witnessed on the Horse Guards' parade today when King Edward presented medals to 3000 soldier participants in the South African campaign. The great square was lined with guards, down from the various regiments. In the center of the grounds was a purple-covered dais surmounted by an Indian tent with silver corner poles. In the space between the dais and St. James Park were drawn up 3000 officers and men of the guards, household cavalry and city imperial volunteers, all of whom had served in the campaign. The admiralty, Horse Guards and other official buildings fronting the parade were all decorated with flags. From the house of Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, on Carlton House terrace, flew the American flag. The lord mayor, Frank Green, attended in state and the members of the special Moorish embassy, in picturesque costumes, were interested spectators.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the King, in a field marshal's uniform, the Queen, Princess Victoria and other members of the royal family arrived and took up places on the dais, and the ceremony began. The recipients of the medals, in a long line, marched past the King, received the decoration from his majesty, saluted and passed on. Lord Roberts came first, followed by Lord Milner, while behind them came crowds of generals and lesser officers, whose names have become familiar owing to the war—Buller, Ian Hamilton and a host of others. Among the members of Lord Roberts' South African staff, who received the medal, was the Duke of Marlborough.

The procession, as a whole, was most incongruous. The officers of the guards, lancers, hussars and highlanders, in dazzling uniforms; groups of solemnly garbed men in frock coats, doctors, who had served at the front, and half a dozen foreign attaches in uniform. Capt. Stephen L. N. Slocum, the United States military attache, was not present. He is in St. Petersburg. There were also groups of time-expired men in civilian clothing, policemen and wounded soldiers, limping along in hospital clothes.

The ceremony lasted nearly three hours, the Queen standing beside the King throughout.

NEED STEAM?

The Place to Get It is from Selected Food

It is good to know the kind of food those with weak stomachs and hearts can get along with, for when a man or woman is a little below par, an easily digested food is the thing that goes right to the spot.

A man in Kirksville, Mo., tells how he got out of trouble by using Grape-Nuts Food. He says, "My trouble was intense suffering in the stomach. It was called gastralgia, but no medicine gave me any permanent relief. In June of last year I began to grow much worse in every respect. I was terribly constipated and the stomach pains were severe. I ran down until I weighed only 120 pounds. I had to give up my business for my nerves were completely unstrung and I could not sleep more than two or three hours during the night, and that only by snatches during a lull in the pain.

I tried almost every kind of food, but finally was put on Grape-Nuts, and in a little while it began to make its worth known. I began to sleep better nights, my strength gradually came back, and I gained in weight rapidly until a little while ago I weighed 165 pounds and have been a well man for months with never a touch of the old trouble.

My bowels are perfect, the nervous trouble has gone. You can realize I appreciate the value of Grape-Nuts Food. Don't publish my name, but you can give it in private correspondence and I will take pleasure in answering the letters."

This is another evidence of the practical worth of Grape-Nuts Food in cases of weak stomach and bad digestion. It is the most scientifically made food in existence and contains absolutely nothing but selected parts of the field grains so cooked and prepared as to admit of almost immediate digestion and assimilation, carrying with it the elements furnished by the All Wise Creator for rebuilding the nervous system, the soft part of the brain and the solar plexus.

When one gets from food what the body needs, it is easy to get well and keep well.

PROTEST AGAINST ART

BOSTONESE OBJECT TO CLOSE CONTACT WITH SCULPTURY.

ROME WAS THUS CORRUPTED

"Nude Art Never Helped a Soul to Believe in Jesus," Says the Protest.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, June 12.—Bishop Mallalieu and many business men of Boston have issued a remarkable protest against holding the Y. M. C. A. reception in the Boston Art Museum tonight, on the ground of its being a place hardly proper for mixed social gathering of young men and young women; because of the presence there of nude masculine statues.

"Is there anything in the magic word 'art' to eradicate indecency?" the protest asks. "How can the exposure of the human form be any less potent in misleading thought when chiseled by a master hand? Rather may it not be said that the more exactly art follows the lines of the flesh the more effectively does it exert the same temptation as the flesh?

"Everyone knows that these identical images, or the originals from which these casts are taken, corrupted Greece and Rome, and that Naples and other Latin cities, whence they are obtained, are sunken in the mire of vice.

"Rather than continue the dangerous policy of familiarizing children with the sight of the exposed form, would it not be wiser for art museums in America to follow the example which, in the Vatican, covers with imitation leaves the immodest statues that have come down from a corrupt age?

"Nude art never helped a soul to believe in the Lord Jesus."

TARRY THOU TILL I COME

Or Salathiel, the Wandering Jew

A GREAT HISTORICAL ROMANCE

By GEORGE CROLY Introduction by GEN. LEW WALLACE

Gen. Lew Wallace (author of BEN HUR) says (Sept., 1900): "In my judgment, the six greatest English novels are IVANHOE, THE LAST OF THE BARONS, THE TALE OF TWO CITIES, JANE EYRE, HYPATIA, and THIS ROMANCE OF CROLY'S. If Shakspeare had never been born; if Milton, Byron, and Tennyson were singers yet to be, and Bacon, Darwin, and Ruskin unknown * * * still, the six works named would of themselves suffice to constitute a British literature."

20 Full-Page Illustrations by T. de Thulstrup

With a beautiful frontispiece in colors, sixteen full page drawings, and three illustrated bastard title pages, all by this famous artist. It is over one year since Mr. de Thulstrup began his preparations for this work, sparing neither time nor labor, spending many months in Europe in the study of the details necessary to perfect the pictures. He has most wonderfully portrayed the stirring dramatic scenes of the story.

The novel deals with the momentous events that occurred, chiefly in Palestine, from the time of the crucifixion to the destruction of Jerusalem. It reveals the struggles between the Romans and the Jews, which finally ended in the overthrow and the dispersion of the Jewish nation, picturing forth the conflict between Judaism and early Christianity. The story is replete with Oriental charm and richness, and the character-drawing is marvelous. No other novel ever written has portrayed with such vividness the events that convulsed Rome and destroyed Jerusalem in the early days of Christianity.

Ohnet's Latest Novel

IN DEEP ABYSS

By GEORGES OHNET (Translated by Fred Rothwell, B. A.)

Author of "THE IRONMASTER," "DR. RAMEAU," "ANTOINETTE," "LOVE'S DEPTHS," etc.

An absorbing novel of love and intrigue. The scenes are laid in Paris, London, San Francisco, and elsewhere. Most of the characters are typical of French life, gay and grave. A principle is enunciated at the beginning of the book: the fallibility of human judgment "even in those whose profession it is to pass sentence and who are consequently in a position to boast of special experiences"—thus the possibility of legal error. The plot of the story reveals a sensational instance of such legal error, and the reader is taken through many stirring events, and made to share in many strong emotions. The thousands who have read Georges Ohnet's famous novel, "The Ironmaster," or any of his other books, will appreciate the treat provided in this, his latest novel.

FOR CHARLIE'S SAKE

And Other Lyrics and Ballads

By JOHN WILLIAMSON PALMER

A collection, now first made, of Dr. Palmer's poems, chiefly ballads, that have excited the admiration of James Russell Lowell, Bayard Taylor, Edmund Clarence Stedman, Dr. Rossiter Johnson, and a host of other readers.

Edmund Clarence Stedman says: "At last our veteran balladist, who has done so much for other poets' work, binds up the autumnal harvest of his own. There are more prolific makers, but as surely as quality, not volume, is the test of poesy, the author of 'The Fight at the Jacinto,' 'Stonewall Jackson's Way,' and 'For Charlie's Sake' will long be remembered."
